4 MORE PERJURY ARRESTS IN FARO GANG EXPECTED

Four more arrests for perjury in connection with the trial of William J. (Big Bill) Keliher are expected to be made at any time, according to the rumors afloat to-day about the Federal building. One of the persons that it is expected will be taken into custody is prominent, and should the course be followed that it is declared United States District Attorney French has laid out, the future will be filled with surprises.

CLEANED UP A ROUND MILLION DOLLARS.

It was declared to-day that the government had figured that the faro bunco ring has cleaned up a round million dollars in and about Boston and that the government did not propose to stop until the last member of the organization was under arrest.

The dragnet of the law is out for Martin J. Walsh, John R. Marshall and another Boston man whose name has not been mentioned in connection with the wrecking of the Cambridge National Bank by George W. Coleman or the revelations regarding the faro sharpers.

Keliher Still in Jail.

Keliher is in the Charles Street Jail in default of $50,000 bail. His friends fear that he will not be able to raise this amount. It was plain that none of the Government officials expected that Keliher would be able to get the bond, and it was further announced that a bonding company would not be accepted, but that $100,000 real estate, free and clear, or $50,000 in cash, would be required.

It was declared by a Government official to-day that evidence had been secured that went to show that on one of Keliher's returns from New York he showed $40,000 in cash and declared that it was his and that he had made it in one evening in the metropolis.

Keliher's trial lasted a greater part of each of four weeks, and it was said that during that period Keliher spent about $30,000, $21,000 going directly as the expense of his defence. It was said that one of Keliher's lawyers received a fee of $10,000.

Jurors Closely Guarded.

It became known that during the trial the government took the utmost precaution to see that there was no miscarriage of justice. Twenty Secret Service men tracked the twelve jurymen everywhere and followed others prominently connected with the case. The detectives made written reports of almost every action of every man and woman connected with the defence, as well as with the members of the jury. They knew every man who addressed a juror during the trial.

The government has information of such a character that leads them to believe that it is only a matter of a short time until Martin J. Walsh will be taken into custody. They believe that they know just where he is, and the whole force of the United States government is behind this man hunt.

ROOSEVELT ANNOUNCES HIS PLANS

ON BOARD THE STEAMER KAISERIN AUGUSTE VICTORIA—By wireless via Siasconset, Mass.), June 17.—Theodore Roosevelt will take no part in the politics of New York State and will do nothing of importance for two months, summering quietly in Oyster Bay.

After working for two days the ex-President to-day completed a brief statement of his plans. Again and again he rewrote it, and until it has been completed in a form satisfactory to him no inking of its contents was allowed to get out.

In it he says he wishes to avoid as far as possible reference to political topics, yet he feels that he cannot neglect them entirely, for fear that his silence may be construed otherwise than he wishes.

Mr. Roosevelt's chief desire is to devote himself to literary work for the few weeks, accepting no invitations, if possible, and giving as few interviews as possible.

There are understood to be many topics tabooed, the principal being reference to President Taft. While Mr. Roosevelt's immediate plans are not absolutely settled, it is understood that he will not deviate from his chosen program if he can possibly avoid doing so.

NEW YORK'S BIG RECEPTION PLANS ARE COMPLETED

NEW YORK, June 17.—New York city eagerly awaits the landing of Roosevelt. Twenty-one guns, the national salute, are to greet Colonel Roosevelt as his ship enters the city harbor. The first signal is to be given by the big battleship South Carolina, stationed in Ambrose channel.

Eighty warships, harbor patrol boats and other steam craft are to take part in the marine parade up the Hudson River and back to the Battery.

One hundred and fifty other craft are to carry sightseers down the harbor to witness the transfer of the Roosevelt party to the revenue cutter Androscoggin. A second salute is then to be fired and the cutter will run to the Battery, where Mayor Gaynor will deliver the formal speech of welcome. Colonel Roosevelt will respond, and then the New York land parade will form and march through the streets.

This land parade is to move from the Battery to Broadway, to Fourth street, to Washington square, to Fifth avenue, to Forty-ninth street and then disband.

Despite rain and clouds, the decoration of the city for the event went steadily ahead. On shipping in the harbor the work of "dressing ship" was begun.

Police Commissioner Baker also took cognizance of the fact that the police will have huge crowds to handle. To patrol Broadway and Fifth avenue, along which the land parade will pass, 4,100 men were assigned.

AMERICAN LEAGUE GROUNDS, Detroit, June 17.—The Red Sox faced the mighty Tigers in the third game of the series. It was an open date, and both clubs agreed to play off a game scheduled later in the season and get it out of the way, as it came when there was another big attraction on the slate.

It was a rubber contest for the two teams, and each was anxious to get the point, as it meant the advantage in the set of ruckers.

Donovan picked Ray Collins, the college chap, to do the flinging, while Jennings had his youngster Stroud booked for the job of stopping the visitors.

Notice to Holders of Flag Coupons

The demand for flags by BOSTON AMERICAN readers has been so enormous and so far in excess of all expectations that the flag manufacturers are unable to supply us with flags as rapidly as required. We already have in our office all the orders for flags that we can safely guarantee to deliver by July Fourth. On that account we regret that we are compelled to inform our readers that only those orders now in our office can be delivered by the Fourth. All orders received between now and July Fourth will be delivered as soon after that date as possible.

$120,000 GUARANTEE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP BOUT

Rickard Declares Matter Settled Unless Some Other Place Offers More Money—Plans Forming for Change.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—Tex Rickard this afternoon announced that the Jeffries-Johnson fight will be held in Goldfield, Nevada, July 4. One hundred and twenty thousand dollars has been guaranteed the promoters by the Goldfield business men, and Rickard says the fight will go to that city unless some other place bids more, as does not anticipate.

Goldfield is the place where Joe Gans defeated Battling Nelson for the lightweight championship of the world on September 3, 1906, in forty-two rounds, winning on a foul. The fight drew a $60,000 house. The Jeffries-Johnson battle will be the third championship fight to be held in Nevada, as it was in Carson City that Fitzsimmons defeated Corbett for the heavyweight championship.

GANS-NELSON FIGHT MADE RICKARD FAMOUS.

Tex Rickard has a tender spot in his heart—as tender as a shrewd business man can possess—for Goldfield. It was there that he first came to the fore as a fight promoter.

Rickard managed the Gans-Nelson fight and while he was unknown when he took up the job when he got through with it he had a fame in the sporting world as extensive as that of Goldfield.

That mining town is his old stamping ground; he knows it, and he knows the men there, and while the other possible sites were being discussed the deal was quietly pulled off.

Rickard was a well-to-do resort owner in Goldfield when the Gans-Nelson go was arranged. A committee of Goldfield men was will wonder as to what happened.

Rickard then got the cold shoulder on most of the committees, but they made him manager, and while the other men remained in the background he loomed as the big chief. In the weeks of preparation Goldfield was crowded and the saloons and gambling halls did a rushing business. Rickard got a good share of it. While he lost money on the fight, he more than broke even from his other ventures.

The road to Goldfield from San Francisco is not vastly further than to Reno, though the latter is on the main line of the Southern Pacific. For the crowds from the East it will be largely a matter of waking up in one town instead of another when the sleeper halts.

Goldfield has been neglected in the talk of the last two days. Other Nevada towns get together to run the affair through as an advertisement for the town.

NAUGHTON SAYS BATTLE IN NEVADA

By W. W. NAUGHTON.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—That the Jeffries-Johnson world's championship fight will be held in Nevada on July 4, is a safe prediction from the one made months ago to the effect that it would take place in San Francisco.

Tex Rickard said to-day that he would not wait longer than Saturday for an intimation from the Attorney-General that he might go ahead with his arrangements for putting the men in the ring in San Francisco.

As many a Saturday is likely to elapse before the Attorney-General gives out any such comforting intelligence, it is practically a certainty that the white man and the negro will settle their little affair up in the sage brush.

Billy Delaney, who has arrived, says Jeffries wants to quit, using the governor's action as an excuse.

"On Sunday morning, if the matter is still in the air, 'I will take the overland limited and go to Goldfield,' said Tex Rickard. "There I will conclude negotiations for putting Jeff and Johnson in the ring at that place on July 4."

Calls it a Tough Deal.

"Attorney-General Webb told me," said he, "that he wouldn't leave a stone unturned to stop the fight. In other words, that he would surely stop it. He said if necessary militiamen would invade the ring and keep the men apart, if matters went to that stage. I have had many tough deals in my lifetime, but this is the toughest I ever experienced.

"I have spent about $25,000 in San Francisco, which it now appears will be a dead loss. It can't be helped, however, and for that matter I don't care. I am going through with this fight now if it costs me every dollar I possess. A few weeks ago it looked as though we would sell half a million dollars worth of tickets; now Jack Gleason and myself will be lucky if we will

RADCLIFFE GIRL SUICIDE BY HANGING

NEW YORK, June 17.—Theodora Elwell, great niece of one of Brooklyn's great philanthropists, James E. Elwell, daughter of J. D. Elwell, a member of a New York Stock Exchange firm, and a graduate of Radcliffe College at Cambridge, hanged herself in an abandoned gymnasium in Brooklyn early to-day.

From a horizontal ladder in the room at E. R. Squibbs' Chemical Laboratory on the water front below Columbia Heights, she was found dangling at the end of a rope, dressed only in her night gown. She had made her home with Mrs. Stephen Lobs at No. 162 Columbia Heights and before that she had lived near the Wadleigh High School in Manhattan, where she was a teacher.

Miss Elwell gave up her rooms near the school when she was sent to a hospital stricken with typoid fever last December and went to the home of Mrs. Lobs. The fever had left her in a serious mental condition. She had become a victim of melancholy and had talked of suicide.

"I won't kill myself," she said to Mrs. Lobs some days ago. "I haven't enough nerve."

CONCORD GOES AGROUND WITH 200 ABOARD

NEWPORT, June 17.—The steamship Concord of the new Colonial line, from Boston and Providence to New York, went aground on the west side of Dutch Island with 200 passengers aboard.

The passengers were safely landed at Saunderstown without accident. Most of them took the Shore Line train back to Boston. Two tugs from Providence, assisted by the ferryboat Beaver Tail, made several ineffectual attempts to pull the Concord off.

500 PERISHED IN CLOUDBURST

BUDAPEST, June 17.—Brief dispatches received to-day say that more than 500 persons perished in yesterday's cloudburst in Krasso-Szorcny, and it is probable that the death list will be even larger when sections now cut off have been heard from. Landslides have added to the horrors of the floods and three villages were to-day reported wiped out. Thousands of persons in the Transylvania Alps are cut off from relief, facing death by starvation. The valleys of the Alte Regal, the Maros and the Kokel rivers are torrents and a score of towns have been inundated.

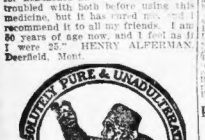
Cured Headache and Heartburn

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey also brought refreshing sleep and a fine appetite to Mr. Henry Alferman. "It is the best medicine in the world," are his own words.

In a recent letter he wrote: "I have lived in an alkali water country and for years before using Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey the water so affected me I could scarcely eat or sleep. But since I have used it I can eat and sleep well and the alkali does not trouble me at all. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the best medicine the world has produced for headaches and heartburn. I was troubled with both before using this medicine, but it has cured me, and I recommend it to all my friends. I am 80 years of age now, and I feel as fit I were 25."—HENRY ALFERMAN, Deerfield, Mont.



Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is a medicine for all mankind. It corrects the defective digestion of the food, increases the appetite, strengthens the heart, gives force to the circulation, cures all throat troubles and insomnia and brings restfulness to the brain and nervous forces. It is pleasant to the taste and can be retained by the most delicate stomach. It has to its credit fifty years of well doing. This is truly a recommendation in itself. Our files contain thousands of letters from men and women in all walks of life testifying to the wonderful cures this great medicinal whiskey has brought about. It will help you—will keep you strong and vigorous.

Write Medical Department, The Duffy Malt Whiskey Company, Rochester, New York, stating your case fully. TAFT TO NAME SUCCESSOR OF MOODY AT ONCE

WASHINGTON, June 17.—With prompt action by the Senate and House on the bill for the retirement of Justice Moody assured, Senate is busy with the question of who will be his successor. It is expected the bill will have passed through both houses and be in the hands of the President not later than Monday night.

The immediate reclamation of Justice Moody is looked for. President Taft is expected to appoint a Justice next week, and the Senate is expected to confirm him before the session ends.

Among the many names suggested as successor to Justice Moody are those of Frederick N. Judson of St. Louis, a Democrat, an able lawyer and special counsel for the government in the recent injunction suit against the roads in Western Trunk line territory; Judge Willis Vandevanter of the Eight Circuit, a Wyoming resident; Solicitor General Lloyd W. Bowers; Henry H. Hoyt, counselor for the State department, and Judge Horace H. Deemer of the Iowa Supreme Court.

RUSSIA FORTIFIES FINLAND FOR WAR

ST. PETERSBURG, June 17.—Many rumors are in circulation as to the situation in Finland. Every one in this city is startled by the hurry with which 8,000,000 rubles ($4,000,000) has been voted by the Duma to building barracks. It is observed also that great haste is being shown in making the Finnish railway system correspond with that in Russia, which is wide gauge, so that trains from this country can go straight into Finland without change. The Russian Government knows well that no armed rising is to be feared in Finland and many believe that Finland is being fortified and turned into a military camp because the government fears a German invasion.

FORTY-THREE CHINESE SEEK ADMISSION

The Plant liner Halifax from Halifax arrived to-day with forty-three Chinese aboard. They claim admission to the United States as merchants, domiciled here or as students. The immigration inspectors spent the day in examinations to find out if the Chinamen are entitled to entry.

Talks with Mutes And Other Items

Mute 'Talked' About Wife

LAGRANGE, Ind., June 17.—Amanda Lower, a deaf mute, aged sixty-two, was granted a divorce from Jacob N. Lower, aged sixty-four, also speechless, after a large crowd of witnesses had told caloric stories circulated by the husband, as charged by the wife. The principals and the witnesses are all deaf mutes.

Nordica Stops the Clock.

IRVINGTON-ON-HUDSON, N. Y., June 17.—Not for every one is the old town clock of Irvington stopped. But last night it was stopped for Lillian Nordica by polite town officials. She gave a concert for the benefit of the Hudson River Equal Franchise Association, and as she sang the old clock boomed forth the hour, nine o'clock, with that going on," she decided. So for two hours the clock was halted.

Bath Kills Aged Elisha.

XENIA, O., June 17.—Although he had refused persistently since he went to bed fil last March to allow his clothing to be removed, Elisha Manley, aged ninety-two years, a negro, was given a bath recently, after fun garments had been taken off by force. He died the next day.

Bees Sting Horses to Death.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Two bees stung two horses here to-day. The horses, maddened, ran into an aviary of 50,000 bees and were stung to death. The driver, also, was terribly stung, but will live.

Three of Quadruplets Survive.

PHILADELPHIA, June 17.—Mrs. Bessie Cohen, aged thirty-six years, gave birth to four children, two boys and two girls. One of the boys died shortly after he was born, but the other babes are apparently healthy.

FOR SKIN TROUBLES OF CHILDREN

Cadum, the New Remedy.

It must be borne in mind that Cadum, the new compound for skin diseases, contains no dangerous ingredient of any kind. It is perfectly safe to apply to the tender skin of infants suffering from tetter, rashes, scaly and crusted humors, eczema, chafings, and similar troubles that afflict the little ones. Gratifying relief is felt as soon as Cadum is applied. The itching is stopped at once, and so soothing and healing is the effect of this new compound that infants resume natural sleep immediately. Cadum is for any skin trouble in adults as well as children, being particularly efficacious in eczema, salt rheum, pimples, blackheads, acne, scabies, ringworm, prickly heat, itching piles, etc. 10c and 25c at all druggists.

KAISER SITS UP AND TALKS TO VISITORS

BERLIN, June 17.—Dr. D'Ilberg and Dr. Niedner, physicians to the Kaiser, to-day held a consultation and examined the Emperor's knee. It was afterward announced that his condition was unchanged, the expectation being that the trouble would disappear within a few days.

The Kaiser refuses to keep to his bed, sitting with his knee propped up on a stool. In this position, ordered to remain absolutely quiet, he granted several audiences to-day that had been previously arranged.

The reports that the trouble with his knee is connected with the recent affliction described officially as a boil upon the wrist were persistently circulated to-day in semi-official circles, the most authentic account attributing the new trouble to inflammation of the synovia.

The noon bulletin said that the Kaiser passed a comfortable night and his condition to-day was most satisfactory. It being possible now that he would attend the Kiel regatta.

REFUSES TO MAKE BREAK FOR LIBERTY

A policeman on State street to-day saw a man standing in Wassenhauer's liquor store. He was coolly smoking a cigar, and as the store is closed for June 17 the policeman stopped to make inquiries. He talked with the unknown through glass in the door. The fellow explained that he had fallen asleep and had been locked in all night. "I didn't break in and I won't break out," he explained. "If I had broken through the window they'd have put me over in Charlestown." The policeman went away to telephone the proprietor of the saloon.

SALEM K. T. OFF FOR WORCESTER OUTING

The Winslow Lewis Commandery, K. T., of Salem, one hundred strong, left the South Station at 10 o'clock to-day for Worcester for its annual two days' outing. The command was led by Eminent Sir Charles S. Dana, General Frederick Sleeper and Captain-General Herbert W. Gilman. To-night there is to be a banquet at the Hotel Warren, Worcester. The Worcester Sir Knights will be their hosts. They will return to Salem on Saturday.

PEARY RETURNS WITH FAMILY FROM EUROPE

NEW YORK, June 17.—Commander Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the North Pole, arrived to-day on the liner Mauretania from his European tour. He was accompanied by his family and Captain Bartlett, the Esquimaux who accompanied him on the successful polar hunt, except for the last stage of the dash.

ANOTHER REVOLT AGAINST MADRIZ

COLON, June 17.—Passengers arriving here to-day from Nicaragua report that a fresh revolt against President Madriz has broken out in the western part of the country. The unsuccessful expedition of the President's army against the province capital, Bluefields, is the occasion for the uprising.

400 MEMBERS AT MASS.

About 400 members of the Holy Name Society of the Church of the Sacred Heart, East Boston, to-day attended a memorial mass which was sung for dead members of the organization. President Peter H. Ellendorf and Secretary George F. Murphy had charge of the members of the Holy Name Society. The Rev. John M. Burke sang the mass. A large number of people were in the church.

American Women Escape Flood at Oberammergau.

MUNICH—Fifty American and English women have reached here from Oberammergau after tedious journeys by automobiles, on foot and by railway. They say the flood caused an exciting time in the village. Many of the visitors were obliged to leave their lodgings hurriedly, but none suffered anything worse than inconvenience, which was borne with good humor. They were able to help villagers save their furniture, and they collected a considerable sum for the losers. About 350 Americans and English are still at Oberammergau. The Passion Play will be resumed Sunday.

Conference on Veto June 22.

LONDON—The much-discussed conference between the leaders of the Liberal and Conservative parties on the question of the veto power of the Lords has been decided on definitely. Prime Minister Asquith and ex-Prime Minister Balfour preliminarily discussed the question in the last three days. The terms of the conference or its members have not been announced. The first meeting will be held on June 22.

Wrong Man Was Executed.

TCHERNIGOV, Russia—The trial and condemnation to death of three men for the murder of an entire family named Bulkhovsky, last Spring, in the neighboring town of Pochep, has revealed a judicial error by which an innocent man, the peasant Glusker, suffered death for the same crime.

Americans in Auto Collision.

BERLIN—Mr. and Mrs. William C. Gotschall of New York were injured in their motor car at Hopenkammer, Bavaria, as a result of a collision with a large automobile dray. They and their guest, Miss Scherp of Berlin, are now at a hotel in Munich recovering from the effects of the accident.

Girl's Headless Body in Street.

VERCELLI, Italy—Excitement prevails in this city to-day following the finding of the headless, mutilated body of Serafina Mattel, a beautiful twenty-year-old girl, in one of the streets. The girl's admirer, Francesco Maggi, who is said to have been insanely jealous of her, has been arrested.

MANY WITNESSES IN DIVORCE CASE

In the Superior Court to-day the divorce case of Maximilian Miethke of Dorchester was heard. Miethke testified he had known and married his wife, Florence L., two years ago under the name of Anderson, and that he learned that she had been married to a man named Frank Hunt, a divorced wife.

Mrs. Miethke, only twenty-three years old, is a pretty brunette. There are twenty-four witnesses, including one detective, for the husband, and eleven witnesses in the wife's behalf.

MASONS HONOR THE MEMORY OF WARREN

Members of King Solomon Lodge of Free Masons conducted exercises at the Bunker Hill monument grounds and honored the memory of General Warren, and the other heroes, who fell at Bunker Hill. Worshipful Master William D. Bennett presided and told of the object of the visit of the lodge to the monument yearly. Three members then placed a wreath on the small monument, within the larger one, to the memory of General Warren.

MOVE TO NATIONALIZE RELIGIOUS TEACHING

EDINBURGH, June 17.—The nationalizing of religious teaching is recommended in the report of the commission on education presented to-day to the World Missionary Conference in session here. The reports say nationalization is imperative. A letter from Mgr. Bonomelli, Bishop of Cremona, was read, praising the objects of the conference and declaring that the various creeds can agree.

SHEFFIELD, Ala., June 17.—When the twenty-six cars on the Glidden tour set out to-day on the fourth day of the contest for Memphis, Tenn., only ten of them had perfect scores. The list of the ten was: The two Premiers; Chalmers, No. 5; Maxwell, No. 7; Carter, car No. 8; Glide, No. 10; Ohio, No. 11, and car No. 15, competing for the Glidden cup, and the Lexington and Maxwell cars after the Chicago cup.

KNOCKOUT FOR OIL TRUST IN AUSTRIA

VIENNA, June 17.—The fight of the Austrian government on the Standard Oil Company is being hotly waged, stringent measures having been adopted to induce the American combine to come to terms with Austrian refiners. The government has given the Standard notice that at the expiration of three months the transportation agreement will expire. This is considered a knockout blow to the Standard. The arrangement calls for the transportation of oil by State locomotives. With this agreement abolished the unloading facilities of the trust will be cut down 50 per cent.

GUILD IN BUNKER HILL ADDRESS TALKS OF 'VICTORY IN DEFEAT'

Ex-Governor Guild, delivering the annual address at the meeting of the Bunker Hill Monument Association, at the Hotel Vendome, today, gave a brilliant discourse on the subject, "Victories in Defeat." After making some official statements about the battle of Bunker Hill, Mr. Guild drew from the great struggle a number of lessons for American citizens of to-day.

"Bunker Hill is not only the most extraordinary battle in point of loss of human life, but it was one of the most terrible contests in the history of the world," said the former Governor. "Bunker Hill gave the world an example of human endurance and bravery that has never been surpassed and seldom equaled. One thousand men fought that dreadful battle in the afternoon.

Aid Failed to Come.

Theirs was defeat, and why? About them from the treetops, from the hillsides and from the windows of the houses of the city across the narrow strait, tens of thousands of their countrymen, thousands of their comrades in arms, looked on idly and watched them die. That was the reason of their defeat. Not one kind among all those idle spectators was raised to bring the needed powder nor food, nor even, in spite of their Puritan training, the cup of cold water to the few who were risking their lives for the many.

"Bunker Hill was a defeat more glorious than a victory because of the 1,500 who endured and fought and died there. It would not have been a defeat, however glorious, but one of the most spectacular victories the world has ever known, if it had not been for the shame that must ever remain that such a crisis in the fate of Americans, soldiers and citizens alike, were content with looking on.

"But not in battle alone have we won honor for America through the few that endured and suffered. Not in battle only has our country suffered shame because in the face of national peril the many have not stirred, but looked on. There have always been a few to fight the assaults upon our Government by the Tammanys, Republican or Democratic.

A Bloodless Revolution.

"We are now passing through a new revolution, a bloodless one, in the development and character of our country. More and more of the spectators are leaving the boneyard and the hillsides, shamed from their looking on by the men who in the last twenty years have been arousing not merely the politics, but the business conscience of the nation.

"It was not so long ago that attention was called to the fact that financiers had one code of morals for their business and another for their homes. A private citizen no longer sits down contentedly to gaze with bovine dulness while the boss and the grafter handle everybody's business. Everybody's business is no longer nobody's business."

The meeting was attended by 125 members. The president, Dr. J. Collins Warren, presided. Prayer was said by Rev. Dr. Philo W. Sprague. President Warren called attention to the need of a permanent home to house the association's pictures and relics and to the need of a permanent endowment fund.

Professor Arthur B. Hershaft of Mariet College brought forward proofs to show the important nature of the battle of Putnam did at the time of the siege of Boston.

A request from the Victorian Association of Boston, asking that the members be allowed to erect a tablet monument to the British who died at Bunker Hill, was referred to a committee. Sixty-two new members were enrolled, including the French Ambassador, Jean J. Jusserand. The following officers were elected:

President, J. C. Warren; vice-presidents, the president of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association ex-officio, Charles Francis Adams, Winslow Warren, John Davis Long, James DeFornadelle; treasurer, Francis Henry Lincoln; secretary, Francis Henry Brown.

MABEL GORDON, FOR WHOM POND WAS DRAGGED

MISS MABEL GORDON

DRAGGING POND FOR GIRL'S BODY

In an effort to recover the body of Miss Mabel Gordon, the beautiful young Beverly girl who is believed to have drowned herself in Jamaica Pond after making her escape from the Adams Nervine Hospital on Centre street, a detail of police from the Jamaica Plain station in rowboats dragged the pond to-day.

Miss Gordon was twenty-nine years old and lived with her father, George Gordon, at No. 27 Brackenbury lane, Beverly Cove. She was a graduate of Wellesley, class of 1901.

Continued application to her studies caused a nervous breakdown. About a week ago her father induced her to enter the hospital. There her condition seemed to improve, and she was to have been discharged within a few days, but she suddenly disappeared.

Patrolman Munroe found a woman's coat, a pair of tan shoes and a black silk hat, the inside of which was marked "Mabel Gordon" and also "George Gordon. Beverly," identified as Miss Gordon's.

DRAGGED FROM UNDER PEW AND LOCKED UP

Frank L. Marham, twenty, of No. 10 Summer street, Charlestown, was dragged today from his hiding place under a pew in St. Eulalia's Catholic Church, City Point, and booked at the City Point police station on a charge of breaking and entering. A list of churches and their locations, written out on a piece of paper, was found in one of his pockets. The police believe he is an old offender. He will be arraigned in the South Boston District Court to-morrow.

FITZGERALD'S REPLY TO GOVERNOR DRAPER

I wish to remind the Governor once more that the provision of the charter requiring this unprecedented and extraordinary approval of the Mayor's appointees by the Civil Service Commission was never submitted to the citizens of Boston for their approval. It was carefully placed in that portion of the charter which was to go into effect without approval, and it was no part of Plan 2, which I supported. I challenge the denial of my claim that any such provision ever would have been approved by the citizens of Boston if submitted to them.—Mayor Fitzgerald replying to Governor Draper's defence of the Civil Service Commission.

NAT GOODWIN CALLS DIVORCE STORY A LIE

NEW YORK, June 17.—Branding the stories of the contemplated separation of himself and his latest wife, Edna Goodrich, as lies, Nat C. Goodwin arrived on the Mauretania today on his way to San Francisco, where he declares he expects to see the Johnson-Jeffries fight on July 4, in spite of all the talk of gubernatorial prohibition.

The actor produced a sealed unstamped letter which he said his wife had given him to deliver to his mother, and upended it read portions to the reporters to prove that there was nothing in the separation reports.

In the letter Mrs. Goodwin frequently alluded to her husband in endearing terms.

Mr. Goodwin will be under the Klaw & Erlanger management next year and will have two new plays, one of which is "The Captain," and the other, "Nat Goodwin" to play under her own management, others he also would have with him.

BEAUTY AND MOTHERHOOD—Here is beautiful back youth and attractiveness to the Queen of Holland.

DAUGHTER OF MAYOR HONORED

Miss Rose Fitzgerald, daughter of the Mayor, returned to Boston today after her graduation as the medal of honor student at the College of the Sacred Heart, Manhattanville, New York. She will be one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of her cousin, which is soon to take place.

Referring to his plans for a Summer respite the Mayor said today: "You may say for me that any story to the effect that I have rented or purchased a cottage at Colonial for the Summer is untrue. I have not as yet decided where I shall go for the Summer, but I have several places under consideration."

Personally the Mayor is pleased with the advantages that Old Orchard Beach, Me., presents as a Summer resort, but he has not yet forgotten that the Selectmen of that municipality of the town that performed so shocking a conflagration in this fashionable watering place two years ago. He personally took the responsibility of ordering the fire department from Portland to assist the local firefighters in checking the blaze. Later the Selectmen presented him with a bill, and there was a heated discussion whether the bill for the personal and official services should be presented to the Mayor for payment.

You'll be lost this Summer while away on your vacation unless you have your Boston evening and Sunday paper to read. Just before you go send your order to the AMERICAN; we pay the postage anywhere in the United States or Canada.

VANDERBILT WINS COACHING MARATHON

LONDON, June 17.—Alfred G. Vanderbilt today won his second coaching Marathon in a brilliant drive from Hyde Park to Richmond in connection with the Richmond horse show. Judge W. H. Moore, another American, finished third. Judge Moore was awarded the first prize for private coaches and Vanderbilt the first prize for road coaches.

The High Weight stakes, $1,500, went to Howard's Williams & I; Bassett's Hayden Boys & was second and Caulfile's Islington Green 7-2, third.

Americans were jubilant when Whitney's Harrier won the Windsor Castle stakes for $1,500. Ross' Queen Marie was second and Mitt's Cleeta third.

FLEEING ALIEN IS RUN DOWN

Max Selling, the Lettish stowaway from the Winifredian, who was rescued from drowning while trying to swim ashore from Boston Light at the time his companion, John Guodberg, was drowned, made a desperate effort to escape from the immigration detention quarters at Long Wharf during the night.

He was stopped at the junction of Atlantic avenue and Long Wharf alley by Customs Inspector Dowd, who dropped him to the pavement with a flying tackle that knocked the breath out of Selling.

Selling, at the detention quarters, made a hook out of a bed iron and fashioned a rope from two roller towels. He fixed the hook to the top sash of a window looking out on Long wharf, fifteen feet from the ground.

FRACTURES WORKER'S SKULL WITH SHOVEL

Angelo Sarso, twenty-eight years old, is locked up at Police Station No. 2, Cambridge, charged with assault and battery, upon Gremido Tastuchi of No. 6 Harvard place, Cambridge, as the result of a quarrel that the two men got into today while at work upon the new Cambridge subway in Lafayette square. Sarso struck Tastuchi with a shovel, Tastuchi is at the Cambridge Relief Hospital with a gash four inches in length in his scalp, also a fracture of the skull. His condition is critical. Sarso was arrested by Patrolman Thomas Burke after a chase. He lives at No. 1945 Charles street, Boston.

PEDESTRIAN ENNIS AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

CHICAGO, June 17.—John Ennis, pedestrian, who is walking from New York to San Francisco in an effort to better the record hung up by Edward Payson Weston, reached Chicago to-day. He is now seven days ahead of schedule time. Members of the Irish Fellowship Club met Ennis near Jackson Park and accompanied him to City Hall.

MORE PROTESTS AT LEE PAINTING

A resolution endorsing the stand taken by the Montana Post of the G. A. R. in protesting against the placing of a picture of General Robert E. Lee in the Confederate uniform in the schools of Montana was adopted to-day at the quarterly meeting of the Norfolk County G. A. R. Association in Odd Fellows' Hall, Dedham. It will be forwarded to the Montana members of the G. A. R. Another resolution was passed, expressing sympathy for the people of Kansas City, Mo., in their fight to have a statue of John Brown placed in Statuary Hall, Washington, D. C.

2,000 BOYS CHEER MAYOR

Mayor Fitzgerald received an ovation today from more than 2,000 members of the Boston Newsboys' Association at their third annual "safe and sane" celebration in Keith's Theatre. Through the courtesy of B. F. Keith, the regular week's programme followed the meeting, in which William R. George, founder of the Junior Republic in New York, told about that settlement and Dr. David Seaman read statistics relative to accidents attending the use of fireworks and firearms in celebrating the day.

Letters of regret were read from President Taft and Governor Draper.

Though the Mayor's voice was not in good condition, he spoke earnestly to the boys for twenty minutes, telling them how privileged they are in being natives of Boston, where they look every day on the monuments of revolutionary days. "It is for you," the Mayor said, "with these objects always before your eyes, to keep burning the fires of patriotism, and are privileged beyond any other boys in the world."

Nathan Sullivan gave a vocal selection, Hiram Brenner performed on the xylophone, Isadore Flint did fancy clog dancing and Chief Captain Thomas Teehan made an address.

SEVEN WIVES CLAIM COLORED PASTOR

RICHMOND, Va., June 17.—The Rev. S. W. Tucker, pastor of a negro congregation at Scuffletown, near Richmond, has jumped his bail and disappeared and his bond of $500 has been forfeited. Seven women have come forward claiming Tucker as husband. Two more have written to the same effect from North Carolina. When Tucker was arrested, charged with prowling at night around the home of still another colored woman, a rabbit's foot, a bottle of gin and a bottle of cologne were found in his pockets.

SENATE TO TAKE UP LORIMER GRAFT CASE

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections will meet to-morrow to consider the graft charges in connection with the election of Senator Lorimer. Senator Burrows, the chairman, has been waiting for formal charges before taking up the resolution introduced by Senator Lorimer himself, such charges having been entered. It is probable that if the committee considers the charges adequate it will report a resolution of inquiry to be conducted by a subcommittee during the recess of Congress.

GREAT CROWD IN RAIN SEES VETERAN FIREMEN MARCH IN CHARLESTOWN

The Bunker Hill Day civic and military parade was held this afternoon, the sun having finally come through the clouds and the rain having ceased. The veteran firemen, who held their muster in the morning, held their playout this afternoon.

The streets were crowded in Charlestown this afternoon to see the big parade.

Thirty-four companies of firemen were in the line of march. The parade, led by Chief Marshal Robert F. Dewyir, president of the Charlestown Veteran Fire Association, started at 10 o'clock. Following Chief Marshal Dewyir's staff came a carriage containing Councilmen Timothy J. Buckley, representing Mayor Fitzgerald, and Daniel J. McDonald and Frederick J. Brand.

Aged captains were in four carriages immediately behind that of the city government. Acting Fire Commissioner Francis M. Carroll and Chief John A. Mullen of the Boston Department were next. Then came engine No. 27, ladder company No. 22, hose No. 36 and the new chemical engine, No. 13.

Captain Hayes Leads Detail.

A detail of the Boston Fire Department under Captain William Hayes followed. With the Salem Veteran Firemen came Ex-Mayor John Hurley with his tall silk hat. He was cheered. With the Waltham Company came Mayor Edward Walker and former Representative Patrick J. Hayes.

The firemen dressed in their flaming red shirts were not the only ones in line, but none of them seemed to mind the soaking. In Charlestown to-day everybody is keeping open house and the clubs are crowded with guests.

The out-door sports were interfered with by the weather and many of these attractions had to be called off, but the Veteran Firemen's field sports were held as on the program at the Sullivan Square playgrounds.

The Sullivan square playgrounds was the scene of thousands of Charlestown men, women and children, cheering and crowding each other good-naturedly along the miniature Midway installed there.

Salute at Navy Yard.

The grounds appeared like the opening day of a big circus in a small town with its swarms of people. Lemonade stands, refreshment booths, strength-testing machines, cane boards, knife boards, fish ponds, African dodgers, all the paraphernalia of shows, fakirs and souvenir peddlers of every description are scattered about, everywhere doing a rushing business. The people refused to let the inclement weather dampen their ardor and the police had all they could do to handle the crowds.

The day was opened with the booming of cannon in the Navy Yard, and the ringing of all the church bells in the district. The crowds began to arrive early and long before the hour set for the start of the big veteran firemen's parade, the feature of the forenoon celebration, the streets were choked with people.

Every elevated train and every electric car running to Charlestown from the city and suburbs was packed with passengers eager to assist in the celebration.

Veteran Firemen First.

Headed by President Robert F. Devir of the Charlestown Veteran Firemen's Association, the big procession of firemen assembled about Hancock square. The gaudy red shirts of the firemen presented a striking picture.

All along the line of march spectators took advantage of every place from which a glimpse of the parade could be had. The old firemen came in for much applause from the people grouped at windows and the marchs of several of the companies made a decided hit with the "kiddies," who jumped in behind the companies and followed them about.

After leaving Hancock square the parade proceeded to Main street, to Sullivan, to Russell, pearl, Bunker Hill, Chelsea, City square, north side, Main street, Alford to the playgrounds at Sullivan square.

The playout competitions of the firemen was the event arranged to immediately follow the parade.

At the conclusion of the parade the members of the Charlestown Veteran Firemen's association went to Monument Hall, where they held their annual banquet.

The big militia parade started this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with former Representative Maurice J. Powers, a veteran of the Spanish War, as chief-marshal. The committee is headed by Councilman Timothy J. Buckley. The parade formed at the corner of Bunker Hill and Elm streets, and proceeded over the following route:

Route of Military Parade.

Bunker Hill to Marion, Princeton, Tufts, Hayes square, Bunker Hill, City square, north and west sides, Harvard, Washington, Union, Main, Mishawum, Cambridge, Sever, Gardner, Main, Bunker Hill, Elm, High, Monument square, west, north, east and south sides, Monument avenue, Warren, Winthrop to Adams and Common streets, the point of dismissal.

Military, naval and semi-military bodies comprised the marching host in the afternoon. Seven bands and a fife and drum corps furnished music. Mayor Fitzgerald reviewed the parade at the Catholic Union clubhouse on Monument square, and Chief Marshal Power rode west at Adams and Common streets and disbanded the line.

In the line were detachments from the United States Coast Artillery, with bands, sailors and marines from the scout cruiser Salem and other ships at the Navy Yard, Charlestown City Guard, Signal Corps Company L of the Sixth Regiment, seven companies of the Ninth Regiment, Colonel Worth Bagley, Colonel Frederick H. Bogni and Bunker Hill Camps of the Spanish War Veterans, Bunker Hill Guards, Sarsfield Guards, John Boyle O'Reilly Guards and Captain Horan's company from the military division of the A. O. H., Tufty and Monument Guards of the Knox Squadron of Cavalry (Revere) Horse Guards, Ninth Regiment Band, Kelly's Charlestown Artillery Band and Letter Carriers' Band, staff of Ninth Regiment, two detachments of Hospital Corps of Massachusetts State Militia.

Tonight there will be a band concert at Winthrop square and another at Hayes square. The celebration will close with an immense fireworks display at the Sullivan square playgrounds.

SHOTS FIRED TO HALT FUGITIVE

Patrolman Dale arrested three men in the South End early to-day on charges of breaking, entering and larceny, one of them after shooting to arrest until the officer had chased him several blocks and fired shots over his head. Dale spied three men coming from the rear entrance of Gene Grum's saloon, No. 673 Harrison avenue. Dale captured two, giving the names of Dennis J. Driscoll, Bennington avenue, and Thomas Fleming, Providence Colony, Dover street. The third man said he was John Boyle, Washington street, Roxbury. The prisoners were held in $2,000 bail each after waiving examination.

"INDIAN" STUDENTS ARE FINED $5 EACH

William B. Parsons, Frederick Foster and Robert W. Morgan, Harvard students, the "Grand Canal Coast," were in the Cambridge Court to-day, charged with disturbing the peace. They were arrested last night by Patrolman Gavin, who testified that "they were yelling in the streets and cutting up and causing a lot of trouble." Judge Almy imposed a fine of $5 on each.

The ball game, general sports, besides the news of the world, will be just as interesting to you no matter where you are this Summer on your vacation, so have the evening and Sunday AMERICAN mailed to you. GIRL TRIES TO DIE UNDER TRAIN

NEW YORK, June 17.—Crowds in the Seventy-second street station of the subway were thrown into a panic to-day when Miss Edith Hardenath, twenty-four, leaped in front of a southbound express train, after struggling with Edward Emerson, a former Rough Rider, who was trying to restrain her. Although two cars of the train passed over her before it was brought to a stop, the wheels did not touch her, and it was found that her only injury was a slight bruise on her left elbow.

SERGEANT CANNEY INJURED BY FALL

Sergeant John J. Canney of North Cambridge station was shaken up and possibly sustained internal injuries by falling from a second-story piazza to-day. He is building a three-story brick dwelling house on Pemberton street, North Cambridge. On the second-floor piazza the sergeant slipped on a wet plank and went over the edge. He landed in a heap on the ground. No bones were broken. He was taken to Cambridge Relief Hospital.

HOUSE RULES BOSSES HIT AT INSURGENTS

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The House Rules Committee to-day took the wind out of the sails of the Insurgents by reporting the resolution of minority leader Champ Clark to amend the rules by which the power is placed in the House to discharge any committee from consideration for a bill or resolution and place the same on the calendar to be called in the regular order.

MISS KELLERMANN FINED FOR SPEEDING

NEW YORK, June 17.—Annette Kellermann, the professional swimmer, was fined $20 to-day for speeding her automobile at a rate of twenty-five miles an hour on March 6.

SMART SET IS OUT FOR RACES

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

The second day of the races at the Country Club in Brookline was even more of an attraction and a success than yesterday, and the society folks of Greater Boston and the Shore Summer colonies turned out in gala array, despite the poor weather, which necessitated a number of rain coats, surmounted by umbrellas.

Mrs. Alexander Henry Higginson, who on the stage before her marriage was Jeanne Caldwell, was to-day, as yesterday, a notable figure, with her husband, who had a string of thoroughbreds at the meet.

Luncheon and tea parties made pleasant side features. Among those who entertained at the clubhouse were Mr. and Mrs. George T. Rice, who had ten guests; J. H. Cotton of Longwood, who was host to the same number; Seth Sprague, who had prepared a tea for eight; Cyrus Sargent, with four guests; Mr. and Mrs. I. Tucker Burr, eight guests, including their friends and several young friends of their daughter Barbara; Mr. and Mrs. Francis I. Amory, who entertained ten persons; George H. Lyman, with half a dozen; Thomas P. Curtis, who had invited eight; Mrs. Benjamin L. Young, who had eight guests; William J. Wright, with a party of six, and Edgar Leonard, who had twelve friends present.

DORCHESTER CELEBRATES IN THE RAIN

Though rain did its best to interfere with the postponed celebration of the 280th anniversary of the settlement of Dorchester the residents of that section went ahead to-day with their plans, subject to changes caused by the weather.

The exercises in the Old Blake House were cancelled. The morning sports were started, with intention to run them through as long as conditions permitted. The Page team of the Dudley Street Baptist Church and the Roger Wolcots came out to play on the Dunbar avenue baseball grounds, as per schedule. The Dorchester High School crossed bats with Manchester High on the same grounds in the afternoon.

An important feature of the Old Blake House program was the awarding of prizes in the school children's competition for the best composition on Dorchester Day. It was decided to run this part of the Blake House program in with the Dorchester High School exercises, with Mayor Fitzgerald giving out the prizes.

Band Concert To-night.

The only celebration now on the Old Blake House program is a band concert in the house yard from 8 to 10 to-night by Post 68, G. A. R. band, weather permitting.

On account of so many outdoor festivities being doubtful, some indoor hospitality than ever was arranged. Open houses will be kept in Dorchester to-night from one end of the district to the other.

The burden of the celebration arrangements fell on the Dorchester Historical Society and on the Citizens Committee. Invitations were extended to many former residents of Dorchester to return and observe the day. In many ways the day resembled the "Old Home Week plan," so prominent about New England three years ago.

The official program began with the parade of the Dorchester High School cadets under command of Colonel William Hoerth. The cadets marched to the house of Mayor Fitzgerald in Welles avenue, led by a brass corps and escorted the Mayor to Codman square where thousands of citizens and school children had gathered for the unveiling of the Codman tablet.

Tablet Is Unveiled.

The tablet was unveiled by Mrs. George W. Yeaton of the Citizens' Committee, Mayor Fitzgerald responded with a speech of acceptance. After the acceptance, pupils from the Henry L. Pierce and Oliver Wendell Holmes schools sang several selections. The tablet is inscribed:

MONUMENT TO MALDEN HEROES DEDICATED TO-DAY

MALDEN SHAFT IS DEDICATED

The Soldiers' monument in Bell Rock park, Malden, was dedicated to-day with appropriate ceremonies. The corner stone was laid on Memorial Day, 1909, by the Massachusetts Grand Lodge of Masons.

Colonel Edward Anderson of Quincy, a retired minister, who served in an Ohio cavalry regiment during the war, was the orator.

The monument was unveiled by Miss Katherine Page, daughter of Gilman Page, the oldest living member of Malden's first company which went to the Civil War.

A poem, written for the occasion, was read by Denis McCarthy. The exercises were under the auspices of Hiram G. Berry Post, No. 46, G. A. R.

FALL RIVER COUPLE ELOPE TO PORTLAND

FALL RIVER, June 17.—Mabelle F. Chace, eighteen-year-old daughter of County Commissioner Frank M. Chace, and Joseph W. Slack, son of Charles T. Slack, business man, have surprised their parents by eloping. Miss Chace was a freshman in the Fall River High School. Slack is employed in the Maplewood Mills. No one imagined that they were especially fond of each other. They slipped away from the city on Wednesday, going to Portland, Me. They sent a letter to their home saying they were married and that they would come home Monday. Slack attended Exeter Academy for a year.

GOV. DRAPER IS 52 TO-DAY

Governor Draper is fifty-two years old to-day, but he will be too busy to think about it till late this evening. Then he will celebrate by retiring to the cheerful quietude of "The Ledges," his magnificent estate at Hopedale, and having dinner with his family—a pleasure that his official duties rarely permitted him to enjoy for some time.

The Governor went to Worcester early to-day to attend the Worcester Continentals' celebration. He went up the Hotel Somerset last night after attending the "night-before" festivities of the Catholic Literary Union at Charlestown.

HOW TO RECOVER STRENGTH AFTER ATTACK OF GRIP

The Thin Blood, Impaired Digestion and Weak Nerves Left by the Disease Must Be Restored To Normal Condition By the Tonic Treatment.

There are few diseases which leave the body with lower vitality and greater inability to regain its strength than the grip. The attack itself is of short duration but the patient is fortunate if he fully recovers his strength and health until weeks and sometimes years have passed. This is because the grip leaves the blood thin, the digestion impaired and the nerves weak.

With the blood thin and impure the body is left without its only means of regaining its strength, and health cannot be hoped for until the blood has been built up and purified. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are especially adapted to meet this demand as they quickly and thoroughly build up the blood.

Miss Estelle Daugherty, who is employed in the Maryland Club, Baltimore, Md., says:

"About four years ago I had a severe attack of the grip, which left me a nervous wreck. My blood was much impoverished, and I did not regain my strength. Everything that I ate distressed me, and caused gas on my stomach. I was extremely nervous, could not sleep and suffered from severe pains across my back.

"I was sick for two years but would not give up although I could hardly drag around. I tried several kinds of medicine and was treated by a physician but nothing helped me. I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a paper and tried them. I received so much benefit from the first two boxes of the pills that I gave them a thorough trial and was cured. The pills gave me a new appetite and built me up until I was strong and well."

If you have failed to get more than temporary relief from your suffering, the treatment is most likely not a blood builder. Do not neglect then to remove the cause of your trouble, but give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a good trial.

For such diseases of the blood as rheumatism, lumbago, chlorosis, after-effects of fevers and general debility, there is no more direct or certain cure than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

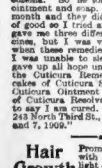
ECZEMA VICTIM GAVE UP HOPE

After Suffering a Year with Raw, Watery Humor on Hands and Face —Prescriptions Did Not Do a Bit of Good—Scratched Till Blood Came and Had to Quit Work.

COMPLETELY CURED BY CUTICURA REMEDIES



"I suffered with eczema for one year and had two of the best doctors in town, but their medicine did not help me. First of all there were small white pimples on my left hand and I had to scratch until the blood came. Then they would puff up and water would run out. Wherever that water would run there would be more pimples until my whole left hand was a mass of sores. Then my other hand became affected and they were like a piece of raw meat. Then it came on my face, neck and under my right arm so that I was unable to raise my arm for two weeks. It became so bad that I was obliged to give up work.

"About four months ago I started to doctor and the doctor told me it was eczema. So he told me to get ointment and soap. I used them for a month and they didn't do me one bit of good so I tried another doctor. He gave me three different kinds of medicines, but I was very much put out when these remedies did not help me. I was unable to sleep at night and I gave up all hope until I decided to try the Cuticura Remedies. I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap, two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent and I am glad to say I am cured. Miss Nora Shultz, 248 North Third St., Reading, Pa., Jan. 4 and 7, 1909."

Hair Growth Promoted by shampoos with Cuticura Soap and light dressings of Cuticura. This treatment allays itching and irritation, destroys hair parasites, cleanses, purifies and beautifies and tends to make the hair grow upon a clean, healthy scalp.

AUTO PLANS ARE SPOILED BY WEATHER

By J. C. KERRISON.

Many are the motoring plans that have been destroyed by the weather since the first hint of enjoying a trip through the country sections thousands of tourists are preforce obliged to remain at home and enjoy the holiday in two ways. The rain so far this season has caused havoc with the hopes and plans of the motorists who have again and again been forced to abandon outings planned. Of course there are some few motorists who will drive, no matter what weather conditions prevail, and these are now on the roads. It is difficult to see what pleasure a person can secure in touring over wet, slippery and treacherous roads, under a cape top, with side curtains up. Might just as well take a train ride.

* * *

The edict of the A. A. A. that the affiliated automobile clubs shall virtually have charge of racing in their districts has caused considerable of a commotion over on Long Island. The latest ruling is to the effect that no sanctions will be awarded for a race meet, the application for which does not have the support of the club in the territory in which the races are to be held. As a result the Motor Racing Association of New York, which has always held its contests on Long Island, must secure the sanction of an association, which has not for years been identified with motor racing, whereas the Motor Racing Association has held several twenty-four-hour contests and has hopes of holding more. The race promoting organization feels somewhat disgusted over the state of affairs.

Barney Oldfield is scheduled to drive a foreign car in the Grand Prize race of the Automobile Club of America, October next. This is the third time that Oldfield has been mentioned in connection with the blue ribbon events of the road during the past three or four years, but he has not yet handled a car in any of the big road races in this country. True he has done some great track work and likewise road work in the past, but what he can or will do against the drivers of the world in a long distance road race is problematic, as he has never driven in a Vanderbilt or a Grand Prize race. This is his third nomination, and it is believed that he will drive. Speaking about Oldfield brings to mind the fact that he and Hill Pickens are again in partnership, showing the great West what motor racing means. Their campaign for the future includes the East, and it is understood that the pair will do some racing at Providence, they having made satisfactory arrangements with the Rhode Island Automobile Club for the holding of a race in that city during September.

* * *

The men who are driving the E. M. F. Thirty in its run through the streets of Boston are showing more ill effects of the long grind than is the car itself. To drive a car night and day would be considerable of a physical test, and the men are now beginning to experience the discomforts of the work. Last night they dodged the rain drops and again to-day they had the same. At 9 o'clock to-day the car had covered 2,300 miles, having made 3,500 brake applications and taken on 1,000 gallons of gasoline.

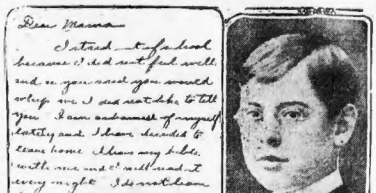
MOTHER SEEKING SON WHO VANISHED AFTER RUNNING FROM SCHOOL



Dear Mamma
I stayed at school because I did not feel well and as you said you would whip me I did not like to tell you. I am ashamed of myself lately and I have decided to leave home. Have my Bible with me and I will read it every night. I do not leave home because you are cross but because you are so good and I am sad.
I will write you often and tell you how I am getting along. Give my love to all and to you and papa. Please don't be cross at me. I have—my love.
ARNOLD
I won't come back till I have learned my lesson. God bless you and papa.
ARNOLD KROEPSCH

Missing Cambridgeport boy and letter explaining the reason for his sudden disappearance.

"Please tell Arnold to come home right away. Everything is all right and he is not a bad boy. Tell him to come straight back home before anything happens to him. Tell him to come home and tell anyone who sees him to tell him to come home. Tell him that from his mother."
Mrs. Karl Kroepsch to BOSTON AMERICAN.

Wearing his best suit and with his every-day clothes and his Bible packed in his suit case, fourteen-year-old Arnold Kroepsch of Cambridgeport is somewhere in the city or country—a mistaken runaway from home.

Arnold is not a bad boy. Bad boys don't take their Bibles with them. He is not a mollycoddle. He is a healthy, hearty lad, with a strong liking for camping out and for forestry. He may be camping out this minute.

Hookey Causes Flight.

But he played "hookey" from school. He told his mother that he hadn't. Scolded and threatened with a whipping, Arnold decided he was not deserving of a good home. In the pathetic note he left for his mother on the little desk in his room last Tuesday morning he wrote:

I stayed out of school because I was not feeling well, and as you said you would whip me I did not like to tell you. I am ashamed of myself lately, and I have decided to leave home. I have my Bible with me and I will read it every night. I do not leave home because you are cross but because you are so good and I am so sad. I will write you often and tell you how I am getting along. Give my love to all and to you and papa. Please don't be cross at me. I have—my love.

ARNOLD.

I won't come back till I have learned my lesson. God bless you and papa.

Boy Is Forgiven.

The Kroepsch family lives at No. 66 Tremont street, Cambridgeport. Mr. Kroepsch is a railway postoffice clerk. Arnold was in the first-year class at the Cambridge Latin School. His mother said to-day:

"Arnold is a good boy. He studies hard and is particularly interested in forestry. He does not smoke nor drink. He belongs to the Anti-Cigarette League. Of course we forgive him. He is my only child."

Arnold is five feet and inches tall, weighs 120 pounds and has medium complexion. He wears gold-rimmed eyeglasses. His best suit, which he took from home, is black, with knee trousers.

COMO VICTIM'S HUSBAND GUILTY, JUDGE HOLDS

ROME, June 17.—Judge Frocassi, the examining magistrate, before whom the inquiry into the murder of Mrs. Mary Scott Castle Charlton has been held at Como, to-day delivered his official report to the Foreign Office. In it he places the guilt upon the missing husband, Porter Charlton.

Nearly every bit of testimony adduced at the hearing, he reports, tends to show that the crime was committed by Charlton, himself. His, the Judge is convinced that the young American was not himself murdered and that his body is not at the bottom of Lake Como.

"It is useless to seek him there," says the document. As the result of these findings, it was declared here that Constantine Ispolatoff, the Russian arrested soon after the crime was discovered, would probably be released by the end of the week.

It is understood that there has been friction between Italy and Russia over the failure of the St. Petersburg officials to supply information requested regarding the polisoff. In private it is said here that the services for which Ispolatoff receives a pension from Russia are such that the officials of that country would perform do their best to shield him.

"Porter Charlton's body is not at the bottom of Lake Como." This was the report made to-day by the King's divers sent to the treacherous floor of Lake Como in the hunt for the husband of Mrs. Mary Scott Castle Charlton, the trunk mystery victim. In spite of their adverse reports and the terrific cold of the lake's waters, the divers were ordered to resume the search, going if necessary to the base of the submerged precipice not far from the spot where the trunk was discovered.

The ball game, general sports, besides the news of the world, will be just as interesting to you no matter where you are this Summer on your vacation, so have the evening and Sunday AMERICAN mailed to you. MYSTERY IN DEATH OF RICH FURRIER

NEW YORK, June 17.—A subway train instantly killed Richard Auerbach, a wealthy furrier, at the Ninety-first street station, a few minutes after he had left his home in West End avenue. The motorman was the only witness to the tragedy, and it has not been determined whether it was due to accident or suicide. Relatives say that Auerbach's eyesight had become defective, and that he no doubt unconsciously stepped off the platform. Motorman Cochrane is positive that Auerbach deliberately threw himself in front of the train. Although there were many on the platform at the time, police say they were unable to find any one who had seen Auerbach at the fatal moment.

ROCKLAND HONORS SUPT. ROURKE

ROCKLAND, June 17.—Louis K. Rourke, Boston's new superintendent of streets, who is a native of Abington, talked about the "big stick," told interesting stories of the Panama Canal and advocated the immediate expenditure of $150,000 for the completion of the canal, at a complimentary banquet given by the Rockland Army Hall here, to the members of the Columbus Club.

The banquet followed a reception, and about fifty guests sat down. Beside the members were present all of the leading merchants of this town and Abington.

35,000 COTTON HANDS ON SHORT-TIME ORDER

PLAINFIELD, Ct., June 17.—Beginning to-day 35,000 cotton operatives in Eastern Connecticut and Rhode Island go on a short time schedule of four days per week because of lack of orders. The Knight Manufacturing Company, owning mills in several Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut towns also put their 7,000 operatives on short time.

TO-DAY'S STOCK MARKETS

DULL MARKET SHOWS GAINS

NEW YORK, June 17.—Reading and Amalgamated copper were the favorites of trading in the stock market in Wall street to-day. Both advanced ¾ of a point on moderate buying. After the first half hour of the session the market became extremely dull, but the gilt edged issues retained nearly all of their gains.

Dealings in the Harriman shares were slight, but Southern Pacific and Union Pacific were fractionally over last night's closing. Steel was practically unchanged.

Wall street has practically suspended business awaiting the arrival of Theodore Roosevelt and J. Pierpoint Morgan as well as the adoption of the conference report on the railroad bill. Most brokers expect considerable activity next week based on things that will be done and said in the meantime. The street is particularly anxious to discover whether Roosevelt will take any part in the government's program against corporations.

American stocks were irregular in London. Mining shares were strong on the New York curb market.

Investment activity developed in the more important railroads and industrials in the afternoon, and prices had a sharp upturn, carrying several issues to new high levels for the day.

KENNEDY FOR GAS INSPECTOR

Mayor Fitzgerald has rewarded another of his political followers to the appointment of John T. Kennedy of Ward 7 to be a gas fitting inspector in the building department at $1,200 per year.

Kennedy represented his ward in the Common Council last year and was an ardent supporter of the "little General" in the recent election. He has been employed by the gas company in a similar capacity.

Increases in pay have been granted by the health commissioners and approved by the Mayor to Stephen Mahoney from $1,000 to $1,200, to James Broderick from $1,200 to $1,300 and to P. Henry Brogan from $600 to $1,000.

CITY DESERTED BY SMART SET

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

Slowly, but no less surely, society is getting settled for the Summer, or at least the Summer plans are all ready to be carried out. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Murchie of Mt. Vernon street and their family have gone arrived at their fine estate "Grove Farm," Ipswich, for the season. During part of the summer they will have as their guests Mrs. Murchie's mother, Mrs. E. Winchester Donald of Mt. Vernon street.

* * *

Since returning from their European tour Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Dorr and family have been occupying their fine country home at Dover, where they have as near neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Amory Parkis, Mr. and Mrs. Myra Tilden Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Gardner, Miss Juliet Higginson and Mrs. Robert J. Minot.

That fascinating little widow, Mrs. William A. Russell, is to spend part of this month with her sister, Mrs. Philip Stockton, on Lake Champlain. Returning from there Mrs. Russell will occupy "Bornhom House," at Beverly Farms for the remainder of the season. Last year Mrs. Russell and her late father, Charles Head, occupied "House-by-the-Woods."

* * *

Mrs. Franklin Haven and the Godfrey Cabots have just arrived at their Beverly Farms cottages. Other recent arrivals there include Mr. and Mrs. Philip Dexter and their family, the Misses Paine and the John Morse, Jrs.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Francis G. Shaw of West Cedar street, who spent last Summer at Kendall Green, have taken the Dame cottage at Smith's Point, Manchester, for the season.

* * *

Among the interesting young couples who will spend the Summer on the North Shore are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Warren (Helen Thomas), who, only a few months ago returned from their extended honeymoon abroad and who have taken "Valley Side," the Lake cottage at Beverly Farms, for the season, in which they near Mrs. Warren's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Washington B. Thomas, who are at "Netherfield," their Summer home at Pride's Crossing.

* * *

Mrs. F. Murray Forbes and her young daughter, Miss Edith Forbes, have sailed for Europe and will be of the family party. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cochrane are to have with them at the castle in Scotland which they have taken for the season.

* * *

Mrs. John Lindsley and her pretty daughter, Miss Maya Lindsley, have gone to Europe for the Summer.

* * *

Mr. and Mr. Howland Jones of Richmond Court, Beacon street, are at Clifton for the Summer. Mrs. Jones expects to have as her guest for several weeks a daughter of her sister, Mrs. Middleton, whose home has been in Europe for the last dozen years, but who is now here this Summer with her family, making several visits among her friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Jones of Fort Wayne, Ind., formerly of Weston, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Marian Morris Jones, Tufts '10, to Howard Crandall Mason, Tufts '08, of Windsor, Ct.

You'll want something good to read this Summer while on your vacation, so why not order the evening and Sunday AMERICAN? It costs you nothing extra; we pay the postage.

RUSSELL URGES TRIAL BY JURY

Whether or not the celebrated Russell will case will be heard before a jury was argued before Justice Rugg of the Supreme Court to-day.

Attorney Sheldon appeared for "Dakota Dan" Russell and argued that the principal issue to be decided is whether Dakota Dan Russell is the brother of William Russell. Such a question, he declared, should properly be determined by a jury.

Robert W. Nason of counsel for William E. Russell argued that a jury trial would produce unnecessary and unwarranted delay and would be attended by much greater expense. He believed that the issue is one that can be fairly and impartially decided by a single justice of the Supreme Court.

After listening to the arguments Justice Rugg announced that he would take the matter under advisement and announce his decision later.

DANGER IN SUMMER COLDS

Summer colds are the result of lowered vitality. If neglected, they are apt to develop into chronic lung trouble and long-standing coughs, asthma or catarrh. Cure them promptly and in the natural way by using Father John's Medicine, which has a history of 50 years of success in the treatment of coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles, as well as a tonic and body builder for those who are weak and run down.

JEFF DECLARES HE ISN'T AFRAID TO FIGHT JOHNSON

DELANEY SAYS JEFF WANTS TO QUIT BATTLE

pull out even. For that matter I don't believe we will pull out unless the conditions turned out to be extra fine and wet several inches deep.

Rickard and Gleason ought have to take in $120,000 in order to break even if the fight takes place in Goldfield, but the writer knows that each fighter is to get a guarantee of $10,000, so that the purse means really an amount equal to $120,000. This means that Rickard and Gleason would have to have $140,000 by the time the first blow of the battle is struck.

Ready to Break Camp.

The information came to the writer in a roundabout way, but it will vouch for its accuracy. Jeff and his trainers are in readiness to break camp at any moment in case it is decided to have the fight take place in Nevada. Manager Sam Berger said that the Jeffries party is fully prepared to leave for Nevada on any given day.

Though the attitude of Governor Gillett caused a shadow of gloom over the training quarters of the champion today, the arrival of Billy Delaney in the bailiwick of Johnson of camp, had a brightening effect.

Delaney took charge and will visit the camp daily until up to a day or two before the big match. Delaney lives in Oakland, and he will not stay at Johnson's quarters at night, but he will come the next day daily, to give the negro the benefit of his experience.

After Delaney superintended the work of the negro he has a few standards per on his charge. "Why, hell, surely win," declared Delaney. "I can't see any reason that Johnson is now in shape for a fight. He just needs one hard work-out and he'll lick Jeffries as sure as you are born."

"If the Gatorfree stops the fight here Johnson will be ready to fight Jeffries any place in the world on the fourth of July, Hell no to Nevada or bust to go to Nevada, or, for that matter, Jack is ready to go up to Rich where he live, cook left off and take on the battle with Jeffries. Johnson will fight Jeffries any style he likes. He'll fight him in private, rough and tumble, Lobino or Queensberry rules.

"Until to-day I was not certain that Johnson could beat Jeffries but after watched him box I was convinced that there was in only one outcome to the fight. Jeff very likely looks good to-day, but he is clumsy and he is good as he was six years ago and I believe honestly that Johnson is good enough to lick Jeffries. He'll get the best way of it, you bet.

"Make no mistake about it, this John-son is the great fighter that he was when he was when I saw him last. He weighed 214 pounds to-day and I think he will go into the ring weighing about 210. This should be big enough for any fighter, but he will be fighting Father Time as well as Johnson and I don't see how any one can beat to win."

Matt Larkin, the heaviest individual better in San Francisco and a lifelong friend of Billy Delaney, is commended for willingness to bet $5,000 against $10,000 on Johnson's chances when he arrived in charge of affairs.

"Now that Delaney is in camp I am willing to bet them as high as they want," said Larkin. "Delaney has expressed the opinion that Johnson will win and that is good enough for me."

JEFF WILL PROVE THAT DELANEY IS BIG FOUR FLUSHER

JEFFRIES TRAINING CAMP, Bowardennan, Cal., June 17.—Jim Jeffries to-day is as mad as a bear with a sore paw. When told of Billy Delaney's remarks to-day at Johnson's camp the big fellow said:

"I'm afraid of Johnson, eh. Delaney calls me a coward? Well, wait till July 4 and watch me prove that. I'm through as a prophet. Don't worry over the outcome. I have nothing printable to say about Delaney now."

MAYOR OF FRISCO NOW OUT TO HELP STOP THE FIGHT

OMAHA, Neb., June 17.—Mayor P. H. McCarthy of San Francisco has learned that Governor Gillett is in earnest in his protest against the Jeffries-Johnson fight and is weakening in his defiance of the State Legislature to-day. The refusal of the Governor to call out troops has caused the belligerent Mayor to read the handwriting on the wall, and he is trying to save during his free defiance.

Now, instead of declaring that he is "running San Francisco" and Gillett will have to keep hands off, McCarthy is issuing statements to the effect that if the Governor wants to stop the fight it will be stopped.

McCarthy declares that there has been an endless chain of opposition from the churches and this, coupled with the refusal of Governor Gillett is that he did not call off the fight two months ago. The people of San Francisco would not have been much heavy losers.

KLINE BESTS JONES IN 10-ROUND BOUT

NEW YORK, June 17.—Patsy Kline outpointed Willie Jones in their ten-round bout at Brooklyn to-night. Kline had the better of the first five rounds, the next two were even and Jones had the better of the last three. Kline was too clever for the rugged Jones.

GLEASON TELLS TAD HE WILL HOLD BIG BATTLE

By TAD.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—Saw Jack Gleason and he was there with the same old smile.

"Oh, yes, we are going right ahead with the arena," said the rotund Mr. Gleason. "The contractor was around this morning to get orders and I told him to keep on with the hammer and nails. I don't see any reason for us to quit. I have opinions from the very best attorneys in the city and they tell us that there is no power in the world for them to stop the fight.

"The law hasn't been changed since Sharkey fought Jeffries here, so why should they try and make us move out. Why, some of the legislators who passed that bully bill have told me that the whole affair was a joke.

"Of course we would rather hold the fight in Frisco than take it to some outof-the-way place but rather than do that, a show-down we will go where they will allow us to hold it.

"The Governor states that he will allow the militia to be called out if we insist and then call the militia. As I understand the law there is but one reason for a call on the militia and that is riot, and I believe me there will be no riot at the ringside if we can prevent it.

Will Stage Fight.

"It meant a lot of money to this city, and I can't see for the life of me why it has to be called off. I understand that a committee of business men has been organized to call upon the Governor to try and call him off. They should do that certainly.

"There was money in it, any way you can look for the Frisco man at that. I feel that we will hold the fight at Eighth and Market streets in San Francisco."

I was sitting with Sam Berger just the night before the fight was called, and Sam was wondering what Gleason was going to do. Said Sam:

"They stopped it in Reno and when they didn't get the permit. Then they went to Emeryville and blew that place. After that they pulled a story that Jeff had broken an arm. They ought to get a la "18" some place. Let's see. James Jeffries. That's 10. Then a thirteen letter in that name. Mr. Jack Johnson. On the level, there's 12 again. The fight on July 4th. I'll count them. There's 13 again. Say the fourth count when I say, there's some jinks on this fighting stuff. Jinks figured in it, too.

"There's J. Johnson and J. Jeffries, J. J. Corbett is with Jeffries, and that helps more. Jack Jeffries was a catcher at one on the job. A fellow that was inclined to be a presidential scrapper could make a world out of tips of that stuff.

"I'm certain that they will fight though. Everyone has a forfeit up and as both men are willing to box, I can't see where the trouble comes in.

Politics in Game.

"There's a lot of politics mixed up in this thing, too. We waited the fight just before a big campaign out here and they're trying to make capital out of it. Jeffries and Johnson will fight though and Mr. Jeffries will be returned the winner. Just wait and see if he don't."

Had Jim Corbett on the 'phone this morning from Rowdy Dow, and Jim was really perturbed. "Now getting right down to cases," said Jim, "it's a bit tough. they should block this thing at a late moment, ain't it?

"Here's Jeffries training for fifteen months, training harder for a fight than any man ever trained before and then he gets a bum like this. Why, enough to say is make tang a month in his work. Why, if they order this fight stopped when the others have been pulled off without any showing—"

"Why, I'm in as bad as Jeffries, quitting my show to come out here. I tell you it's a terrible loss to a bunch of people. Jeffries wants to fight and he doesn't care where they hold it just as long as he can climb in the ring and show the people of the sporting world that he is still there.

"I'm a bit optimistic at that though. I can't see for a minute why they are going to stop it. Why there's a limit of stopping this fight for San Francisco and as they need it, the thing looks good. Say, Jeff, he does need a lot of work, but won't lay off on account of this latest move."

Langford Will Fight.

Louis Blot, who manages the Kaufman-Langford fight, is going right ahead with his show, which is scheduled for Saturday.

"Of course it's going to hurt my show a lot, but I expect a record breaking crowd just the same," he said. "It's a big card and they're bound to see it. No one but the soldiers will stop us. Joe Woodman and Bob Dendy are arranging along with me. Both the big fellows will be in shape, and you'll see the greatest fight you ever saw unless the muskets are pulled."

Mr. J. Johnson was working the same to-day at the Seal Rock House. Ain't mocking the matter with that bird except the big bell.

"It don't matter a bit to me where they hold the fight," said Artha, when he was being robbed down.

"You know I ain't the promoter. I have never left up. Jeffries has his and the promoters have theirs. I agreed to fight in California, Utah or Nevada and my forfeit is doing the talking for that.

"I'm tearing off that Dorando stunt on the road every morning and there won't be any let-up until Mr. Rickard says 'boy, boy, pick up the bands and that trunk and hike to other parts.'

"I know that we'll fight, but I don't know just where. It's the greatest fight that was ever attempted as we are. We can't see why they stop me. I boxed here two or three times and was not bothered in the least and I swear I can't see why they put the crusher on us now."

Delaney Watches Jack.

Billy Delaney was out at the Seal Rock House to-day watching Johnson and Kaufman work. At did not bot to-day as he is tapering off for the bout Sunday, but he wasn't worried a bit.

Delaney would not say much about the situation, but wanted to know how they figured either boy had a chance to fight.

"Either one of these cards might go the limit and be declared a draw," said Billy. "The men are well trained and wear big gloves. They might just box an easy fight. How does the Governor know? It is simply a boxing contest and they can take it. Of course if they fight to a finish with bare knuckles and had a side bet up we might call that a rather tight bet nowadays none of the cards are known as anything but boxing bouts."

Were you ever trimmed to about five bucks when the last race was pulled and chased around for a good thing to lean a few on? Did you ever more than one dead sure thing that was in?

That's the fight situation out here today. Every one you meet has just left some guy in the know who says the same one else who said so and so.

It's just down Market over by the same old stuff. One fellow tells you that the number is twenty-three and to get ready for 23-to-1. Another says that he knows they have no more chance of stopping the fight than you have of changing the date.

Will Test Fight Edict.

I just left Tex Rickard at the St. Francis and he knew no more than he did last night at a late hour.

"I'll hear something in a day or so," said Tex. "I'll wait until the end of the test case of the Kaufman-Langford fight, Saturday afternoon and then we will know better. I'm ready to start a new way whenever I get the word, but so far nothing definite has come through."

Jack Gleason was optimistic and said that he was going to stick. He had a few days regardless of the funny stories going around about a fight.

"We intend to go on with the show, Prince is just as interested as we are. We are out a lot of money just at present, nothing to speak of, but I am positive that everything will come out all right in the end.

"Business interests demand that the fight should not be postponed just at this time. It is rather late in the day for sentiment.

"It is strange to me that just at this time the Governor should split hairs between boxing and prize fighting when the men have spent their time and energy and have put up the money to make the thing a success.

TEX RICKARD SAYS HE WILL NOT FIGHT INJUNCTION MOVE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—Tex Rickard has announced definitely that he will make no effort to contest the injunction proceedings ordered by Governor Gillett to stop the Johnson-Jeffries fight.

"I will give Governor Gillett until Saturday to change his mind," said Rickard.

"If he is determined then to prevent the fight in San Francisco I will pull up stakes and make for Reno. I will make no fight in court as my attorneys have advised me it would be useless."

RENO IS WILLING TO HAVE FIGHT

RENO, Nev., June 17.—Billy McCarney, representative of Jack Gleason and Tex Rickard, promoters of the Jeffries-Johnson fight, was notified by county and State officials to-day that there would be no legal opposition to the fight if it is transferred here from San Francisco. He was told that a license fee of $1,000 is all that is necessary.

HORACE MANN SCHOOL WINS NEWTON MEET

The grammar school meet, in which pupils from the junior, intermediate and senior classes of all the grammar schools in Newton competed in athletic events, was held on the Newton Centre playgrounds and was won by the Horace Mann School.

Reibling, a Horace Mann senior, was the star of the meet. He won the shot-put, 220 and 100-yard dashes and the running broad jump, securing 20 out of the 42 points captured by his school.

NATIVE SONS HAVE ALL BET ON JIM JEFFRIES

By George Herriman.

If every man east of the Sierras would pull as hard and as earnestly as the inhabitants of the Occident are doing, even at this early date, for Jeff to conquer his unbleached opponent, the very psychic force fans out in motion would help some in bringing the title back home.

If some one were to climb a minaret anywhere south of the Tehachapi and let loose a call for the faithful to gather round, the country would look like a forest after the Lumber Trust had hit it with, perhaps, a few totally deaf gents and those doing time on the chain gang, left sticking around in the lonesome.

Why, if Jeff was dated to run a sack race with the Empire State Express they would string with him to the last bean in the pot.

You've got to show the faithful ones down there where Jeff can't made good and they'll perhaps then stop to let you tell them where he won't make good.

The big boy is not curiously down there, he's merely one of them, and when he crosses his corporeal well being into one of John Brink's stools, and orders a peterborough with onion clinging lyrtlke to its crisp sides, the man next to him will not miss a forty-cent piece extracted, but that same nonchalant individual will wager every dollar in the house on the latest Jeffants' ninny bottle on Jeff to clean up anything he can find to fight with.

Such faithfulness is rare; it is not a fawning, senseless, fanatical worship, for Jim has never and never can play the part of a matinee idol—it is the pure admiration of a man whose method and purpose are deliberate and sure, and whose call upon his townsmen's friendship has been of slow but positive ascendency.

When after he had announced his intentions of putting up the bewildered title there was not a voice in the South-west to cry, "Beware!" no sense of doubt to ask, "Can you do it?" but, clear as a clarion, the answer came, "You're just the man to do it!"

A few strips of bacon around Jim's girth was hardly enough to discourage them—and as the world can see to-day, the steel was only tempered.

And, believe me, should—IF, mind you, well, I won't say IF—you couldn't fence that faith of faiths, with all the bunds of California to help, let's all believe he's due to a grand reconvation.

LOS ANGELES CLUB WINS TROPHY FIGHT

CHICAGO, June 17.—The Los Angeles C. C. will probably succeed the Denver C. C. as the holder of the Tom Morris memorial golf trophy, according to the unofficial returns received of the second annual competition held to-day. The Los Angeles team of eight finished thirty-four down to par.

The Oakmount Club of Pittsburg was second with forty-one down, while the Denver and the Memphis country clubs were tied for third at forty-two down. The Exmoor Club of Chicago finished fifth with forty-seven down.

O'DEA IS CAPTAIN OF VERMONT NINE

BURLINGTON, Vt., June 17.—At a meeting of the baseball team of the University of Vermont P. J. O'Dea of Fitchburg, Mass., was elected to lead the team during the season of 1911. Captain O'Dea is a "medic" in the class of 1912 and is one of the few to captain a team during his junior year. He was used as utility man with the 1909 team but during the season past made good showing on second base.

JOHNNY KLING WINS GAME WITH HUESTON

CRIGER'S BALL PLAYING DAYS LIKELY OVER

CLEVELAND, June 17.—The Highlanders' pennant chances were given a body blow Friday noon, when Manager Stallings was told by the doctor that Lee Criger, Cy Young's old Boston battery mate, was ill with appendicitis and that an operation might be necessary. Criger was taken suddenly ill Thursday night, but a doctor was not called until Friday morning. The doctor said an operation might be avoided, but that Criger's condition was serious. An operation would probably end Criger's diamond career. He is too old to recover from the shock and stand the strain of playing ball.

Cy Young, who used to cook for Lee in Boston, was with his old partner almost constantly Friday, and seemed more worried about Lee's condition than did the New York players. Cy is doing everything he can to help Lee.

"The loss of Criger, now that the weather has warmed up enough for him to work regular, will hurt me considerably," said Stallings as he came from Criger's room.

"I was counting on Criger to get into a lot of the mid-season games. If he has to submit to an operation he will be of little use to us this year."

LOWNEY EMPLOYES HOLD FIELD DAY

MANSFIELD, June 17.—The annual field day of the Lowney employes was held to-day with athletic events in the morning and ball game in the afternoon. The weather was rainy, but did not dampen the enthusiasm of the gathering. A special train brought a big crowd from Boston. The results of events were as follows.

50-Yard dash—Griswold first, Higginbotham second, Egan third.

100-Yard dash—Higginbotham first, Griswold second, Johnson third.

Potato race—Mondellar first, Higginbotham second, Kingston third.

Sack race—E. Nott first, Mondellar second, Brunner third.

Three-legged race—Griswold and Spear first, Mondellas and Nett second.

Barrel race—Egan first, Mondellar second, Nett third.

Wheelbarrow race—Johnson first, McMorrow second, Egan third.

220-Yard dash—Johnson first, Higginbotham second, Spear third.

1-Mile race—McMorrow first, Griswold second. Time—28.25.

WOMEN'S RACES.

50-Yard dash—Miss Mary Lee, Miss Johnson second, Miss Jampa third.

Potato race—Miss Jampa first, Miss Carroll second, Miss Moore third.

Sack race—Miss Sampson first, Miss Johnson second, Miss Jantz third.

HARVARD-BROWN GAME CANCELLED

The Harvard-Brown game scheduled for Soldiers' Field this afternoon has been cancelled entirely owing to the fact that Class Day exercises at Harvard interfere with playing to-morrow.

Brown has been greatly disappointed by the fact that the game was cancelled, but the visitors have failed to relieve the defeat that the Providence boys suffered at the hands of the Crimson on May 6. Providence when Crimson, with McLaughlin in the box, won the first time, rapped out a 6 to 1 victory.

LONGWOOD TENNIS MATCHES PUT OVER

Play to-day at Longwood in the State single championships was abandoned on account of the wet conditions. Play will be resumed to-morrow. Sweetser will meet Bell in the finals of the men's singles and will meet Nat Niles in the semi-final. The other semi-final match will be between Johnson and Nickerson. The final match will be played Monday.

CARR FOULED BY JIG STONE

Dutch Carr of Charlestown was given the decision on a foul over Jig Stone, also of Charlestown, in the ninth round of their scheduled ten round bout at the American A. C. Up to that foul the bout had not stirred up a great deal of excitement as neither man showed a great amount of aggressiveness. The bout, however, ended in a rough house, and for a few minutes it looked as if there would be general trouble, as seconds and spectators jumped into the ring.

As soon as the ninth round started they went into a clinch and Carr used his elbow in a way that angered Stone, and when Stone resorted to similar tactics Carr was so enraged that the referee had hard work getting them apart.

No sooner had he done so than they flew into another clinch and then Stone began to use his knees, hitting Carr in the groin, causing him to go to the floor.

One of Carr's seconds jumped into the ring and struck at Stone, and in a second the ring was full of seconds, spectators and the club officials. The officials and the coolness of the spectators quickly stopped further trouble, and the referee then declared Carr the winner.

Joe Gans substituted for Alf Lynch against Steve Kennedy and lost to the Lawrence boxer at the end of six rounds. Max Kramer and Young Brewster boxed six rounds to a draw and Joe White and Young Jasper boxed six rounds to a draw.

STRAIGHT TIPS
FOR SPORT FANS

THE MANY FRIENDS OF TOMMY Scanlon, the star South Boston and former English High baseball player, were delighted to hear that he had been elected captain of the Fordham College team for next year. Scanlon may develop into a major league player, as he has been approached by several big league teams.

MIGHT AS WELL CALL THE FIGHT of the century off. The famous Twins, Mike and Jack will not be presented. Jack has an engagement to fight Eddie McGoothy at Milwaukee on July 4, and, of course, the heavier of the Twins isn't going to throw any loose change away, and Mike must attend Jack as chief second.

THAT PAPKE-JACK TWIN SULLIVAN bout at the Armory Club next Tuesday night is certainly classy. Take it from me that the member who stays away from the club house that night will feel like going to a home for the weak-minded when he reads about the battle the following day.

AND, SPEAKING OF PAPKE, HAVE you noticed that he is hot on the trail of our old friend Stanley Ketchel. Papke says that Stanley run away from him, beat it out West when he heard the Illinois Thunderbolt was speeding East. I am looking for a come-back from the gent with the pretty-sounding name.

ONE MR. GILLETT, GOVERNOR OF California is not only a new member of the In-Bad Club, but it looks as if he would usurp the Big Noise as its chieftain.

Straight Tips—Will you kindly state through your column in the American that Mike Grady and Kid Hamel are wanted at the Fairview A. C., Southridge, N. J., for Mike and Kid. Here's a tip. Find out what's wanted.

Straight Tips—Is Cal Ellis, the lightweight boxer, still in this part of the country? If so, can you inform me as to his whereabouts? I have under my wing a speedy little youngster, Peanut Gans of Everett, and would like to match him against Ellis. If you can put up a gamey scrap. R. J. FOWERS.

Don't know where Ellis is just now. When he sees this he may be ready to accommodate you—and Peanut.

Straight Tips—To settle a bet will you kindly tell me the nationality of Billy Papke and Stanley Ketchel. I read in the American that Papke was out after Ketchel. In commenting upon the challenge I became involved in an argument with a friend. I contended that both were Americans. My friend said both were Poles. Who is right?

L. BROWN.

Straight Tips—Will you kindly tell me if Leo Dillon ever trotted a mile under the two minute mark.

J. L. B.

Yes. As a five-year-old, Leo Dillon trotted a mile at Memphis in 1:58½. Without a wind shield, the noted trotter went a mile in 2:01 flat. The first performance was on October 23, 1903, and the second on November 11 of the following year.

Straight Tips—Did this fellow Klem, who handed out such punk judgment here recently, ever umpire in a world's series. If Boston ever should be in the race for the world's championship I hope that Klem is not the debonair man.

M. D. R.

Klem umpired in the world's series in 1908 and 1909.

WRAY SELECTS VARSITY EIGHT

HARVARD TRAINING QUARTERS, Red Top, June 17.—No more changes will be made in the varsity eight, according to indications to-day. Whatever changes will hereafter be made by Coach Wray will be in the fours and the freshmen eight.

To-day Hooper displaced Balch at No. 3 in the second four, the latter retiring to Loring's position at bow. It is possible a change will be made in the stroke oar.

It was a good hard rest that Wray gave the varsity fours yesterday. In order to definitely find out which of the fours is the fastest combination, Coach Wray sent the two boats over the two-mile course from Red Top to the navy yard.

Harvard First Triumphs.

The varsity four, made up of Forster at stroke, Balch No. 2, Sargent 3, Loring bow and Voorhees coxwain, won handily from the second four by three and one-half lengths.

Although the second four held on pluckily for the first mile, which was covered in 5:43, after this point in the race the varsity combination drew away at will.

The two miles were done in 11:43, which is very fair time under the conditions. Waite stroked a good race for the second four, and was ably backed up by Hooper at No. 2.

Since the arrival of the crews at Red Top several combinations have been tried in both fours, and the second has been victorious in most of the brushes.

With another race on Saturday a final selection should be picked by Monday, and it now seems likely that the varsity combination which will race Yale on June 30 will have either Forster or Waite at stroke, Hooper No. 2, Sargent No. 3, Balch bow, Voorhees coxswain.

By the way the Crimson freshman four is traveling at present it will be backed by many Harvard pets in its preliminary race with the Eli freshman four on June 20. While the youngsters are light they drive the shell with good speed at a high stroke.

Wray Watches Oarsmen.

The freshman eight covered the same distance as the varsity, rowing in short stretches. Coach Wray watched the work of the men from the launch John Harvard. He was constantly warning the varsity crew to take things easily and not pull with the dash, which the men held in reserve. Both eights covered about five miles with short breathing spells in good form.

In the varsity combination, especially the crew kept the big English shell well on her keel, and in neither boat was there any perceptible pound or check on the finish of the stroke.

The orders to-day:

Varsity—Stroke, Cutter 7, Wald; 6, Strong; 5, Bacon; 4, Withington; 3, Metcalf; 2, Newton; bow, Whitney; cox, King.

Freshman—Stroke, Goodale; 7, Moffat; 6, Stratton; 5, Keays; 4, Lincoln; 3, Cutler; 2, Sullivan; bow, Meyer; cox, Abeles.

BASEBALL EXPERTS TALK ON GAME

The general verdict is that the Baseball Magazine gets better as it gets older and the present issue is no exception to the rule. It not only features the great National game splendidly but it treats other recreations with the same care that it does baseball. Prominent in the present issue are "The Cruise of the Sea Bird," by Bart A. Heisler, "One Day's Great Fun," by the well known huntsman and fisherman, Charles Everett Beane, and a dashing article on rowing by Leonard Somil. Baseball there are such prominent lights as Connie Mack, Pitchers Groom and Coombs and Ty Cobb, and contributions by such leading writers on baseball matters as Nicholas Fistley, J. C. Morse, L. A. Pougher, Frederick G. Lieb, S. E. Watts, H. J. Casey, Harry Ellard, Orel Geyer and Daniel Shaughnessy among others. The illustrations are superb and among them may be mentioned full page likeness of Harry Lord, Mike Mitchell, Joe Tinker, Bill Bradley and Bill Sweney.

MACK THINKS WELL OF TIGERS WINNING FLAG

"Connie" Mack, "old fox," manager of the Athletics, was sitting out in front of the hotel at Cleveland when an inquisitive fan came along and took a chair beside him.

"Going to win the pennant, 'Connie'?" this fan asked.

"Oh, I'm making no claims of that kind," said Mack.

"But you might win it," the fan persisted.

"Yes, we MIGHT win it, but there are a few other clubs in the race, you must remember. There's Detroit, for instance."

"Detroit," repeated the fan with a sneer, "why don't you know that the Tigers are out of the race?"

"Do you think so?" "Connie" asked in that soft, gentle way he has. "I saw no signs of them quitting the contest when were over there last week. On what do you base your opinion that they are out of the race?"

"They haven't got the pitchers to carry them along," the fan said, with great self-confidence.

"Connie" put aside his morning paper, crossed his legs and addressed the fan in this way:

"My friend, did it ever occur to you that a team like the Tigers doesn't need many great pitchers? A nine like that will carry a mediocre pitcher along."

"Then you think well of the Tigers' chances?"

"I consider the Detroit club one of the greatest baseball organizations the game has ever known," said Mack. "It takes more than good ball playing to beat the Tigers. It takes brains, not only quick action but quick thinking.

"I've been identified with and have seen a good many high-class baseball teams in my day but I take my hat off to this Detroit club."

Reason—The Macks had just lost three straight to the Tigers.

GIVE TROPHIES IN JULY FOURTH GAMES

The city of Boston's annual Fourth of July athletic games will be held on the Common starting at 8 a. m. The following handicap events, open to registered athletes, will be held: 100-yard dash, limit 6 yards; running broad jump, limit 2 feet; 440-yard run, limit 25 yards; running high jump, limit 6 inches; 880-yard run, limit 40 yards; one-mile run, limit 80 yards; three-mile run, limit 200 yards.

There will be an open team race, four men on a team, each man to run 440 yards. Gold watches will be given for first and second places and gold medals for third places and the team races. No entrance fees will be charged. Entries close June 30 with George V. Brown, 93 A. A., Exeter street, Boston.

LOSS OF STARS HANDICAPS YALE

YALE TRAINING QUARTERS, Gales Ferry, Ct., June 17.—Yale's eights are still handicapped through the indisposition of one man in each boat. Tucker, who has been looked upon as a fixture at No. 2 in the varsity crew, did not take his seat in the boat to-day, and it is rumored about camp that his attack of indigestion was more serious than first anticipated.

Colburn is filling in temporarily in Tucker's stead, but the men are not worked as hard as usual, about six miles being the distance pulled in the day's practice.

JONES, OLD CHICAGO STAR, BACK IN GAME

CHEHALIS, Wash., June 17.—Fielder Jones, famous as leader of the White Sox, who at present lives in Portland, is to play ball on the Chehalis team in the Washington State League, covering centerfield.

Jones ended his work in the big league by declining an offer of $10,000 a year. By joining the Chehalis team he can play three games a week and have ample time for attending to his lumber business.

VANDERBILT YACHT BEATEN

NEW YORK, June 17.—George M. Pynchon's sixty-five foot sloop yacht Istalena was the winner in her class in the New York Yacht Club's annual race for the Spring cups. She defeated Cornelius Vanderbilt's Aurora by three minutes and fifty-two seconds, and Henry F. Lippitt's Winsome by six minutes and fifty-one seconds.

The course was a 19½ mile triangle on Long Island Sound and the wind was from fresh to light from the eastward, with a drizzling rain. The start and finish were off Glen Cove. Fourteen yachts started and a feature of the day was the trying out of Morton F. Plant's new Herreshoff sloop Satanita against Harry L. Maxwell's Avenger. She was beaten six minutes and twenty-nine seconds.

BROOKLYN GETS A CRACK OUTFIELDER

NEW YORK, June 17.—Brooklyn is to get a new outfielder, who is no less a person than Jack Dalton. According to Larry Sutton, one of the Brooklyn club's scouts, the new man is just as good a ball player as the "Jack" Dalton, curse you," was a detective.

Brooklyn pays $4,000 for Dalton, turning over $3,000 in cash and Pitcher Schneberg to the Des Moines club of the Western League, with which team Dalton has been playing this year. Dalton has been secured because Manager Dahlen wanted another outfielder who hits right-handed.

BASEBALL NEWS NOTES

Saginaw is a healthy place to umpire in. When the ump makes a bad decision in that burg, the chief of police leads the crowd in pursuit of the offending arbiter.

Some of the abbreviations used by printers when putting ball games in the box scores are pretty good, but the limit was reached when an Indianapolis type shortened Beaumont to "Bumt."

Sandusky must be a hive of redhot fans. They had a double-header scheduled there on Saturday with the Sandusky team against Detroiters, with the Detroit team getting the turnouts of the two games. Eight people bought tickets and then the management decided to pass up the show.

The Highlanders have unloaded several players for nearest-no money. Hemphill was sold to the Cleveland as for $2,000 and the Washington Club paid the same price for Ellerfield. Detroit put up $5,000 for Moriarty. The Boston Red Sox have paid $2,500 for Engle and $2,000 for Kleinow. Blair was turned over to Rochester for $2,000 and so on. Yet Stallings has a better ball team, it appears, than ever before.

Bob Emslie has been umpiring for twenty-five years. Some managers are mean enough to say he should have retired five years ago.

The American Curiosities Discovered by Foreigners

By DOROTHY DIX

"I SEE," said the woman in gray, "that another distinguished foreigner, after spending a few weeks here at a hotel, has departed, declaring that Americans have no home life, and that American women are the most idle, extravagant and wasteful women on earth, and that they spend their time in a mad whirl of pleasure to the utter neglect of their children."

"Oh, pffle," exclaimed the woman in the flower toque. "Nobody minds what they say. It's the fashion for foreigners to be horrified at the soulless materialism of Americans, just as it is for us to be struck dead with admiration of the beauty and chic of French women, though, personally, I think that when it comes to being women by and large—those that you see in the stores, and at the theatre, and on the street—America has got Paris beaten to the smallfinds of a last year's shirtwaist. It's just the pose to discover that Americans haven't got any home life, and to come here and not find it would be like going with Dr. Cook and not seeing the North Pole."

"Well," responded the woman in gray, "I don't pretend to be a discoverer, but some of these days I am going to start out on a still hunt to find some of these foreign traditions that we hear about, and some of these strange, unnatural women that we are always reading about; for I am free to confess that I have never met any of them in my own personal acquaintance."

Our Idle Rich and Europe's

"Nor I," agreed the woman in the flower toque.

"Perhaps the Four Hundred haven't any home life," went on the woman in gray, "but there are a few of us still left in this country who haven't any millions or divorces, and don't lead the double life; and, anyway, when you come to even up our Smart Set and compare our idle rich with the idle rich of Europe, it averages up about six of one and half a dozen of the other. Some of the most thrilling scandals I have ever had the pleasure of listening to were imported."

"Right you are," said the woman in the flower toque, "and it always strikes me as excruciatingly funny that foreigners will come here and make the rounds of the resi- taurants and go away and declare that everybody lives in hotels, and that there is no home life.

"It's like the traveler who, going through Canada, poked his head out of the window and saw a red-headed girl, whereupon he wrote a book, declaring that all Canadian women were red-haired. And, anyway, the people you see at restaurants and hotels are mainly visitors. Half the women posing around the city hotels are from Oshkosh and Squeedunk, taking the little trip that is the treat of their lives."

"The great rank and file of American an- domestic is the home-cat," continued the woman in gray. "Look at our men. There are no other men on earth so devoted to their families, or who work so hard to provide their wives and children with every possible comfort and luxury, or who spend so little on themselves.

Wild Horses to Drag Them Away

"Maybe there are a lot of gay ones who wine and dine in public places in preference to home; but all the men I know think they are married to the smartest and prettiest woman in the world, and that their little Johnnies and Marys are going to set the world on fire with their genius; and when their days work is over they make a break for their own firesides, and it takes wild horses to drag them away from them.

"I want to find out where these undomestic American women live. All the women that I know are good housekeepers and good cooks and good managers, and they are keen on saving up money and getting along in the world. And if they find time to do other things, like belonging to clubs, and do go out and freshen themselves up a bit, instead of forever pottering in the kitchen and smelling of bread and butter, like the English and German women of the middle class do, why, it doesn't show that the American woman is a poorer housekeeper, but a better one.

"But, anyway, I want to see this rara avis, the American woman who scorns to keep house and hates a home and gets her back up when you say domesticity to her. I've been hearing about her a long time, and I want to find out where she lives.

"And I want to see this wasteful and extravagant woman who throws away, in her kitchen, what a foreign family would live on. I've been listening to sermons preached against her for lo, these many years, but in my own acquaintance the only thumbed book in the kitchen is the cook book, and it opens of its own accord at the place where it tells how to make entrees out of the soup meat and concoct a delicious salad out of the three peas and the stalk of asparagus and a half a lettuce leaf that was left over from yesterday's dinner.

"Honestly, since food prices have been so high everywhere you go the chief topic of conversation is the exchanging of recipes between women on how to cook the cheap cuts of beef so they will taste like the best, and to make mutton masquerade as Spring lamb.

"I don't know any women who aren't keen on bargains, and who can't do miracles in the way of spreading one dollar over a surface that requires two.

"And as for the mothers who neglect their children, and turn them over to nurses, and——"

"The trouble with American women is that they are too good mothers," interrupted the woman in the flowered toque. "They are so foolishly fond of their children that they indulge them too much, and every mother thinks that she has hatched out a swan, and she bores you to death talking about it."

Going on a Hunt for Them

"Well," said the woman in gray, "some of these days I am going to start out to find these natural curiosities pointed out by our visitors. I am going over to hunt for the woman who doesn't love her home, or her husband, or her children, and when I find her I am going to seek for that other freak, the woman who leaves a luxurious home and a kind, good father, anxious to supply her with all the money she wants, in order to go into an office and pound a typewriter all day, or stand behind a counter."

"Luck to you on your pilgrimage," replied the woman in the flower toque. "But you'll never find them. They are people of whom we have heard, but none of us has personally met."

How a Business Failure Wins Success Through Love and Stick-to-itiveness

CHAPTER X.—(Continued)

"NO; I got off this morning. I don't think he is Sam. Did you want to see him?"

"Well, yes," Dora admitted. "I guess you know about that, Roland."

"Mean business, sometimes, asking favors of these bankers, eh, Mr. Graham?" Burnham reminded much too casually to have deceived anybody but old Sam.

Graham nodded, dolefully. "Yes, it is unpleasant," he admitted candidingly. "You see, there's a note of mine come due to-day, and I'm not able to take care of it, or pay the interest just now. * * * At his thought it over gravely for a moment, then brightened. "But I guess it'll be all right," Mr. Lockwood's kind, very kind," I'm afraid you're a little too rare, Sam," Roland contributed tactfully. "When there's money due Lockwood, he wants it, and most times he gets it or its equivalent."

"Yes," Sam assented sadly. "I guess he does, mostly."

But Burnham changed the subject adroitly, for that was this—burner, did you say?—that Mr. Barnette forgot to tell me about?"

"Oh, just one of my inventions, sir."

"I understand you're quite an inventor."

Sam's smile lightened his face like sunlight striking a snowbound field. He nodded slowly, thinking of his past enthusiasms, his hopes and disappointments. "I've spent most of my life at it, sir, but somehow nothing has ever turned out well—not so far, I mean. But I mean to hit it yet."

"That's the way to talk," Burnham cried heartily. "Never give in, I say!"

But tell me about some of these inventions, won't you?"

"Well"—Sam knitted his fingers and rested his reflectively—"I patented a new type threshing machine, once, but I couldn't get anybody to take hold of it. You see, I haven't any money, Mr. Burnham."

"How would you like to talk it over with me, some time—as a sort of side issue."

"Will you?" Sam eagerness was not to be disguised.

Sam Explains His Invention.

"So glad to. Tell me, how did you get your power?"

"From gas, sir—though coal will do—not as well. You see, I've got that burner patented, that makes gas from crude oil—no waste, no odor nor trouble, and little expense, if I'm not mistaken. And I thought; that's why I invented it, could get steam up mighty quick with that gas arrangement. I use it for lighting here in the store, now."

"Oh you, indeed?" Burnham's tone indented falling interest, but such diplomacy is wise lost on Sam.

"If you've got time, I could show you, it's right over there."

A glance at his watch accompanied Burnham's consent to spare a few minutes. "There's a telegram I must send presently," he said, "but I'd like to see this burner, if it won't take long."

"No, not long; just a minute or two." Sam was already dragging the affair out from under the window box. You see——

He went on to expound its virtues with all the fond enthusiasm of a father showing off his first-born, and wound up with a demonstration of the illuminating appliance. I'm afraid, though, he got little encouragement from Mr. Burnham. He considered the machine with a dispassionate air, it's true, but wasn't at all disposed to take a posesto view of its future.

"Yes," he grudged, when Sam put a match to the jet, "that's certainly a very good light."

"All right, ain't it?" chimed Roland, enthusiastic.

"Oh, it may amount to something. It's hard to tell. Of course you know, sir," he continued, addressing Graham directly, "you've got competition to overcome."

Sam's old fingers trembled to his chin. "No-o," he said, "I didn't know that. I've got the patent."

"Of course that's something. But the Consolidated Petroleum crowd has another machine, slightly different, which does the same work, and I should say does it better."

"Is that so?" quavered Sam. "My patent——"

"Now see here, Mr. Graham," Burnham argued, "we're practical men, both of us, I'm glad to say."

"No; I shouldn't say that about myself," Sam interrupted. "Now you, sir—I can see you're a man who understands such things. But I——"

"Nevertheless, you must know that a patent isn't everything. You said a moment ago a man had to have money to make anything out of his inventions."

"Did I?" Sam interjected, surprised.

"Certainly you did; and dead right you are. You've proved it all very well, but supposing you're up against a powerful competitor like the Consolidated Petroleum Company. They've got a patent, too, granted it may be an infringement of yours, sweet—what can you do against them?"

"Why, if it's an infringement——"

"I've Got No Chance," He Said.

"Sue, of course. But do you suppose they're going to lie down just because an unknown and penniless inventor sues them? Then you say! They'll fight to the last ditch; they'll engage the best legal talent in the country. You'll have to carry the case to the Supreme Court of the United States if you want a winning decision. And that's going to cost you thousands—hundreds of thousands—a million——"

"Never mind; a thousand's enough," said Sam gently. "I see what you mean, sir. It's just another case where I've got no chance."

"Oh, I wouldn't put it as strong as that——"

"But I have no money."

"Still, you never can tell. I'll think it over, if I get time."

"Why, that's kind of you, sir, very kind."

It was at this point that Roland rose to the occasion like the noble ass he is. Roland never could see more than an inch beyond the end of his nose.

"Say, Mr. Burnham," he floundered, "do you suppose you could help Sam——"

"I think," said Mr. Burnham, with additional business of looking at his watch, "I can find time to look into it."

"Yes, Roland," Sam agreed meekly; "you mustn't keep your friend from his business 'em glad you looked in, sir. You'll call again, I hope."

"Thank you," said Burnham, moving toward the door.

It was too much for Roland's sense of opportunity. He rolled in Burnham's wake, sufficiently reluctant.

"Say, Mr. Burnham," he exploded as they got to the door, "if you'll just offer Sam five——"

"That will do," Roland collapsed as if punctured. Burnham turned to Graham with a wave of his hand. "I'm meeting on the afternoon train, but if I get time I may drop in again and talk things over with you. There might be something in the threshing machine you mentioned."

"I'll be glad to show you anything you care to see."

"All right. Good day. I'll see you again, perhaps."

The "Promoter" Leaves

"Good day, sir. Good day, Roland," he sped their parting cheerfully.

But it was a broken man who shut the door behind them and turned back, fingering his gray chin. There must have been a dimness in his eyes and a quiver to his wide-lipped, generous mouth.

"Perhaps Mr. Burnham was right * * * Only I was kind of hopin' * * * Never Mr. Lockwood ever there * * *

He shook himself to throw off the spell of depression and somehow managed to quicken again his abiding faith in the essential goodness of the world.

"Well, well! He's very kind."

He fell to work. He modeled to its hiding place, musing upon the obstacle in his affairs in his muddleheaded way, and in the process managed to convince himself that "he all came right."

"With this young man here, and everything gettin' fixed up, and new stock issued, I'm sure I'll be sure Mr. Lockwood'll see it the right way * * * for he is kind, very kind."

Thus it was that he presently called up the stairs in a very cheerful voice: "Betty, are you pretty near through up there?"

The girl's weary voice came down to him without accent: "Yes, father, almost."

"Well, then, you keep an eye on the store, please. I'm going to step out for a minute."

"Yes, father."

"And if anybody asks for me, I'll most likely be down to the depot, with Mr. Burnham."

He didn't mention that he contemplated calling on Lockwood, because he feared it might worry Betty. * * * As if a woman doesn't always understand when things are going wrong!

Betty knew, or rather divined. And she had no hope, no faith such as made Sam what he was. She came down the steps listlessly, overborne by her knowledge of the world's wrongness.

Only her sense of duty sustained her. She owed something to old Sam for the gift of life, dismal though she found it. He needed her; what she could do for him she would.

The Disillusionment of the Honeymoon

By MABEL HERBERT URNER

This is the first articles of a series by Mabel Herbert Urner, the author of "Journals of a Neglected Wife," which will show the way disillusionment comes to the bride after marriage. This disillusionment, which begins almost at the altar, will be shown in its various stages during the honeymoon and during the early part of the married life of the average young couple. The other articles of this series will appear on this page in later issues of the paper.

THE EIGHTH DAY

SHE closed her diary and walked over to the window. The cool glass felt grateful against her flushed face. She gazed straight down into the yard below, but saw nothing for the blur of tears before her eyes.

Only the eighth day of her honeymoon—and she was heartsick! It was not the result of a quarrel—that would have been only a temporary thing. It was the result of disillusionment—a growing disillusionment!

Her husband was not a brute—it was not that. He was just the average man—selfish, self-centered, but probably no more so than any other man. And yet her marriage was so different—so pitifully different from what she had dreamed.

Only eight days—and the disillusionment had begun!

She remembered a cynical woman friend had said to her a few days before her wedding—"The honeymoon is the most pitiful disillusionment of a woman's life!"

The Most Difficult Period

And she had laughed at her! In the confidence and security of her happiness she had felt that nothing could mar the beauty of her honeymoon! She had told Warren of it, and he had gathered her to his arms, indignant that she should have been told such a thing—and declaring that they would be ideally happy as long as they lived!

And now—just eight days had passed!

She had been fighting hard against the admission, even to herself, that she was not happy. That instead of her honeymoon being the most beautiful, she was finding it the most difficult period of her life.

It was not until she was glancing through her diary just now that the realization of her disillusionment swept over her so strongly she could no longer fight it off.

She always kept a diary. The recording of her daily thoughts had become so fixed a habit that even her wedding day had not interrupted it.

And now she had chanced to open the book at the date May 12th, just a month ago. The words, "this great happiness which is to come to me," caught her glance. Then she read the whole story:

May 12th. Just twenty-two days until the wedding! I mark each day off the calendar with the thought that it brings me twenty-four hours nearer the most wonderful event of my life!

Warren has just left me—each time it seems harder to part. He is so gentle, so tender with me, so considerate of my every wish. To be his wife—to live all our lives together! Oh, I must try to be worthy of so great a joy! I feel more than ever before that I want to be good—to be kind and unselfish, to bring to others as much happiness as I can—just because of this great happiness which is to come to me!

We were planning our honeymoon today. We are going to The Cliff Hotel, a quiet, secluded place, far up on the Maine coast. We want to get away from everything. We want the first few weeks of our happiness all alone!

She had put the book down and sat staring at the blotter on the desk before her. And then, after a while, she had taken up the book and turned to the last entry, the one written yesterday.

June 11th—I dread the thought of spending two more weeks at this hotel. I don't know why we ever decided to come here on our wedding trip. Warren complains constantly of the food and service, and I find it a very lonely and depressing place. I wish we had chosen some resort where we knew some one—where it would not have been so lonely.

There are no amusements of any kind near here. We cannot even go to the theatre or concerts, as we could if we had stayed at home. There is nothing to do but walk by the beach—and one cannot do that all the time. I spend part of every afternoon reading aloud to Warren—but I don't think he cares much for it—he almost always goes to sleep.

The contrast of those two entries! The pitiful disillusionment that they showed—all that she had not fully realized until now!

The door opened and he entered. "Oh! all tired-feminine phrases!" as he threw down his hat and came.

"Why, dear," not turning, lest he see the traces of tears. "Didn't you have a nice walk?"

His Many Petty Troubles

"A nice walk? I footed it three miles to that beastly little village to see if I couldn't get some decent cigars. And the best they had were worse even than those they keep in this hotel!"

"Oh, I'm so sorry. You should have brought some with you."

"I suppose I should. But it never occurred to me that you couldn't get a good cigar at any civilized hotel."

He threw himself heavily in a cane rocker which creaked protestingly at his weight.

"It's after six, dear," as she went over to the dresser to arrange her hair and powder her face. "Hadn't you better go down to dinner? You know you hate things cold—and they always are so unless we go down early."

"Then for goodness sake let's go now! I'm already getting indigestion eating the cold stuff they serve here."

Despicable Conduct

By WINIFRED BLACK

Dear Winifred Black—I was engaged by a lady as nurse girl, and agreed to go to her on the following Friday. That morning I was told by telephone not to come until Friday of the following week. When that day came I received a letter from the lady, putting me off another week, and, finally, after waiting the woman's pleasure nearly three weeks, I was refused the place altogether.

I had paid for my room and board for three weeks, only to suffer the complete loss of time. The woman's husband is a lawyer, and I called on him to ask to be reimbursed for my part of my expense, at least, but he would not see me.

What would you have done to a woman with as little principle as this one. I will hope for your answer in the paper.

ONLY A SERVANT GIRL.

I DON'T believe there's a thing you can do legally to get justice from the woman who so deceived you.

I may be wrong, of course, and if I were you I should go to one of the settlement houses in your city and ask the advice of some lawyer who will be glad to tell you the truth without charging you anything for it. A woman who deliberately deceives a hard-working girl isn't much better than a pickpocket. But I'm afraid there are a good many of them in the world.

And as to the working girls themselves, I wonder if they ever think of the inconvenience and downright discomfort and trouble they so often give to people who are really trying to treat them fairly and honestly.

I have myself engaged at least half a dozen maids at different times, made my plans to receive them, and waited all day, never to hear one word of explanation, apology or excuse.

I know women who make it a practice to engage two or three maids when they want just one. And they excuse themselves for this breach of common honesty by saying that they know at least two of the girls who promised to come without fail on Monday morning will never show up.

To my mind that is no excuse at all. It might as well steal my neighbor's silver and salve my conscience by saying that I suspected she intended to steal mine, and I was determined to get ahead of her.

A woman of position and standing, such as an established home gives her, should be honorable and truthful, whether the people she employs are honorable and truthful or not.

What can we expect of dependents if those upon whom they depend are so unreliable? As to this particular case, I should be very glad, little maids, that I did not get that particular situation.

I would not want to work for a dishonest, deceitful and inconsiderate woman.

PRESERVING DON'TS

DON'T make a mistake and wait until the special fruit is nearly over ripe, and then pay the highest prices for it.

Don't think over-ripe, soft fruit makes good preserves or jellies. Don't ever use anything but the best materials for good results.

Don't use what is called "A" or "soft" white sugar or brown, use granulated white sugar for all preserves or jellies.

Don't use granulated white sugar for jelled fruit; use light brown only.

Don't make spiced fruit too sweet; four pounds of light brown sugar to seven pounds of fruit is a good proportion.

Don't use an overabundance of spices, too much makes the taste bitter.

Don't cover preserves or jellies while cooking; they are apt to boil over.

Don't use cold water for jellies; mine are the strained fruit juice; to each pint allow one pound of the best granulated sugar; put it on a platter in a warm oven to heat, and add it to the boiling liquid.

Don't put hot preserves in cold glasses or jars and not expect accidents; have the glasses or jars in boiling water, rinse well, then fill as quickly as possible.

Don't allow preserves to stand after they are cold; put melted paraffin on cover with lids. Wash off every trace of stickiness and put in a cool, dark, dary place for future use.

FOR THE BUST

A new method of home treatment for the development of the bust, originated by a famous specialist who used it with great success in a large practice, can now be obtained in this city.

Science is for only one thing—to increase the fact, and does not affect other parts of the body. It is so uniformly successful that the local agents are instructed to sell it under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it is not successful.

There is no massaging, no steaming, no rubber appliance, nothing but a scientific treatment that stimulates the natural growth of the bosom and gives an increase of from three to six inches in a few weeks. A three weeks' treatment costs only $1.00 at Houghton & Dutton, or sent by mail postpaid by the Emkee Toilet Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Girl Sniffs at Anti-Kissing Reform

THE Anti-Kissing Reform had struck the town where Girl lives, and had struck it hard, and Girl observed that the older Spinsters and the women with most of their front teeth out were swatting the Kiss Germ the hardest.

Girl was asked to join with them at a recent meeting of the Holy Grail Research Club, and caused a great deal of indignation in her reply to the invitation. "Not much," she said in her most vulgar voice, "you are exaggerating the evils of the kiss. I see a Cincinnati woman is putting it all on a button. For five cents she will send any of us a Kiss-Not button, and with that button to ward off the impudent men and the boneffection-ate women, we will live to one hundred.

"She advocates the pinning of a button on the bib of every baby. I am here to tell you sisters, that we are not babes, and that we might as well save the money.

"The kiss, as I observed it, is a peck. A man comes home, and his wife meets him at the door as she has been coached to do by the women's magazines. He is supposed to kiss her, and he gives her a peck that lands on her hair, her nose, or ear, whichever is nearest. He doesn't stop to plant it, or see if it lands at all. She is like a hungry hen grabbing for a grain of corn that is grabbed away just as she has her mouth on it. If any germ should be lucky enough to pass in that lightning peck a man gives his wife, then I, for one, say we give the germ a chance, for it has all speed records done up.

"When a man leaves for his work, the scene is repeated, and usually he is in such a hurry to be off that the peck lands in his ear.

"Women don't have to wear a Kiss-Not button to keep their husbands away. No men bother the girls, and most of the Reform Women don't have babes with bibs to pin a button on to. Then why this Kiss-Not agitation.

"If you women want to begin in the right spot, stop kissing each other. If it were not for the kissing women do to each other, when going away or coming, a Union Depot wouldn't be anything more than a place where trains stop and start. Fight the Kiss-Germ. If you insist on a fight, on the ground that when women kiss each other their pecks knock each other's hats over and spoil wear out veils, and you will do more with the Sisterhood in this late reform."

Then the Girl sat down with such a sniff and scorn that her paper on the Kiss-Germ was blown out the window.

TO-DAY'S BEST STORY

A WELL-DRESSED man entered a florist's shop, threw down a $5 bill and said he wanted some flowers to take home. He was very unsteady, evidently having been on the spree, and the flowers apparently were intended as a domestic peace offering.

The florist picked out a dozen chrysanthemums, and the customer started to leave.

At the door he hesitated.

"I say," he said thickly, "watsh these flowersh called?"

"Chrysanthemums."

The customer shook his head. "Gotter have something easier than that," he said. "Gimme a dozen pinks."

Freckles

Disappear Quickly When the Right Treatment Is Applied

At this time of the year "Freckle Face" is with us in full bloom. And the anguish and heart pangs that freckles cause! Not necessary at all! At the first sign of a freckle, or even if your face is already covered with them, go to Houghton & Dutton Co., Gerdan Co., or Rikers-Jaynes Drug Co., get a two-ounce package of Kintho (K-in-t-ho), apply it a few nights and only one night's and—presto! your freckles are gone like magic.

If You Don't Like Your Face in the Looking Glass--- Change Your Face

Don't Break the Looking Glass. If You Don't Like the News in the Daily Newspaper, Change the News and YOUR Civilization

Copyright, 1910, by American-Journal-Examiner

Occasionally some of our good, friendly readers write in an emotional tremolo, which runs along in this fashion:

"I like you and what you write. I read your editorials. But how, oh! HOW can you say in your editorial column that the fight between the negro and the white man disgraces civilization, and in other columns give all DETAILS of that coming fight?

"WILL you, CAN you, DARE you, WON'T you PLEASE explain?"

We will, we can, we dare—and here's the explanation:

Kind friends, a newspaper IN ITS NEWS COLUMNS is a mirror—more or less imperfect. When the historian a thousand years from now picks up a copy of the Boston American of to-day, DON'T YOU KNOW PERFECTLY WELL THAT HE WILL SEE IN IT A FAIRLY FAITHFUL REFLECTION OF THE CIVILIZATION OF TO-DAY!

He will say to himself, and truly:

"This newspaper had the biggest CIRCULATION when it was published. A million or more human beings READ it every day.

"Since this newspaper gave a thousand lines to the fact that a negro and a white man were getting ready to fight, and five lines to the death of a great writer and thinker, we KNOW that for one person interested in the writer and thinker in those savage days at least two hundred were interested in the white man and the negro preparing for battle."

A newspaper is a mirror of the life and times, of the sentiments, emotions and interests of the period.

If they had had newspapers in Rome when Augustus lived—about nineteen hundred years ago—they would have published pages about fights in the arena and very little about the great moral movement that was carrying old Greek and Roman mythology away and bringing forth Christianity.

If a Boston American had existed in Rome when Nero burned the Christians alive, there would have been pages—if possible, with red ink—showing the Christians burning. There probably would not have been a line about Paul, the Jew of noble family, born at Tarsus, who had consecrated his life to the uplifting of the human race and who, according to Ferrero, probably perished in Nero's massacre.

Such a Roman paper, with red ink pictures of burning Christians, would have been A REFLECTION OF ROMAN DAYS.

The Boston American is a reflection of THIS day. WE PRINT THE NEWS. WE TELL YOU WHAT HAPPENS.

For two or three years we used to receive letters regularly asking, "How can you be such a hypocrite as to denounce gambling in your editorial columns, and call on the State to stop it, day after day, when you print racing and gambling news in your news columns—every detail—and even tell which horse the experts think will win?"

We used to SAY then to our readers what is to-day PROVED TO BE TRUE:

"The Boston American and the newspapers allied with it in New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles, print all the news about the racing and the gambling, because we propose to have for our readers all the people and with the help of those people and their power, and especially WITH THE HELP OF THE GAMBLERS THEMSELVES, we expect and propose to stop public gambling."

That was our reply to those who asked us how we could attack racing in one column and print racing news in another. We said "THE RACING WILL BE STOPPED." And the racing in New York is stopped. And do you know what stopped it?

Public gambling was stopped in New York State by the power of public opinion, acting upon Governor Hughes, a conscientious man in office.

And don't forget that public opinion is a question OF NUMBERS—OF QUANTITY, NOT OF QUALITY.

We might print a newspaper so high in class that only deep students and philosophers would read it.

We might publish a newspaper so pure in its tone, so high and irreproachable that it would be read only by the very best clergymen and a few old ladies.

But do you suppose we could kill public gambling with such a newspaper as that? Do you think that with it we could force the Legislatures of half a dozen States to stop the brutal butchery of pigeons shot for "sport"?

Readers of this newspaper and its allied papers in other cities, power in this country is IN NUMBERS. The power of these newspapers is IN YOUR NUMBERS. You are now the biggest single body of newspaper readers in the United States. You number millions. And you will be a very much bigger body as years pass.

The editorial column expresses, not the convictions of an individual, but what we sincerely believe to be the interests, the convictions of a great majority of our READERS.

We DO print all the news—except that we bar the details of immorality and obscenity that are often printed in full by other newspapers.

We print the news because we must have THE READERS. We don't guide the readers—THEY GUIDE US.

We did denounce that brutal prize fight planned for California, because we felt that it disgraced the noble State, that its sanction, in spite of law, was an insult to the age and to California. And we told the Governor of California editorially what we thought about it.

At the same time we DID print all the news. The Boston American did continue to be what a newspaper must be to live and be useful—A MIRROR OF THE TIMES.

And what happened? The Governor of the State of California notified his Attorney General that the fight must be stopped, and it will be stopped, and it won't disgrace California.

The Boston American, which printed all the news of that prize-fighting enterprise, as it did of the gambling, and which was the only newspaper of circulation to denounce that prize-fight enterprise editorially, or to attack gambling systematically, will continue to tell on the back page what its readers BELIEVE, and to tell in the news pages WHAT THE WORLD DOES AND WHAT INTERESTS THE WORLD.

Waste Land and Waste Men

By BOLTON HALL

BOLTON HALL.

No one could count the exodus of farmers who became city workers of every trade because of their unwillingness to go through life working with that dull old tool, the hand-hoe. One of the blessings of modern farming is that the hand-hoe has been almost sent to the scrap heap, and the wheel-hoe, capable of doing the work of five men with hand-hoes, has taken its place.

But this is not the only change in methods of fighting weeds. Weeds are another proof that "Nature abhors a vacuum." She believes in putting every particle of ground to use, and if the cultivator of it won't go her way she soon shows him how easy it is to get ahead of him. Up springs the weeds, and unless the gardener is on the job just then with his hoe, they soon crowd out his plants. To keep the ground busy all the time, producing all it possibly can, will discourage weeds more than half a dozen hoes.

I recently saw a striking proof of this. One of the largest strawberry growers in the country issued invitations to the elect to visit his plant farm and see real progress there. This is a grower who thinks it best to make his land produce from 10,000 to 20,000 quarts of berries per acre, about ten times the average yield, and those berries of the best quality only. There was no waste space in his strawberry beds, and when one of the visiting growers asked him when and how often he cultivated he looked down at the bed chock full of heavily bearing plants and said, "This bed was cultivated once, about a month ago."

By making every foot of ground produce all it could, or, in other words, keeping it busy, he made it impossible for the weeds to get headway, and so lessened the amount of work to be done on his patch. We were all brought up on Dr. Watts's couplet:

"Satan finds some mischief still
For idle hands to do"—

Idle lands may do even worse mischief than grow weeds, although that is bad enough; indeed worse than the farmer knows. He has little idea of the damage to his crops from weeds growing on the roadside or on nearby vacant plots, else he would insist upon there being fewer idle lands near him, or, at least, upon the owners keeping them free from weeds. Although some weeds die off each year, many last two years or forever, and sow themselves freely, their seeds being carried by the winds and the birds. Weeds appreciate good soil almost as well as garden plants do, and many a farmer finds his well-tilled plot sown with weeds from the neglected strip of roadside or other idle land next to him.

We suffer for the sins no less than we profit by the virtues of everybody else. But the worst mischief that idle lands do entails much more misery, hard labor and want than the growing and sowing of weeds—garden weeds. They grow the weeds of civilization—and that cause decline and degeneration of the race—unemployment and want. For, if all the lands now held idle for any purpose whatever were fully employed, they would make involuntary poverty impossible and the whole problem of civilization enormously easier to solve.

This is not news to most people—they have heard it before, and turn from it in disgust, because, they say, "There is hardly any land idle near the city—all the idle land is outlying wastes." But they are not well informed as to the facts.

If the vacant areas near the cities were used for intensive farming, as taught in "A Little Land and a Living," they would sustain in comfort and plenty hundreds of thousands of people, and this by merely temporary use which would not interfere with urban development.

Sentimentalists of '76

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

(Mr. Roosevelt says that only sentimentalists deny England's right to rule in Egypt.)

A LOT of sentimentalists in Boston met one day,
And took a ton of British tea and dumped it in the bay.
And when the King set up a howl and threatened frightful things,
They very cheerfully expressed their sentiments toward Kings.
Result—a fight on Bunker Hill that taught the royal gent
Some hitherto unheard of facts regarding sentiment.

They were sentimental brethren, and one sentiment of theirs
Was a sentimental longing to conduct their own affairs.
Lacking Teddy's regal wisdom, they arose and went to war,
And removed the startled redcoat from New England's rock-bound shore.

Until upon his tinselled throne the King began to quake.
Too bad that Teddy wasn't there, to teach 'em their mistake.

More craven sentimentalists in frozen Valley Forge
Refused, though starved, and sick, and cold, to yield to old King George.
Though chill despair stalked through the camp, and hope was hard to see,
They still retained the sentiment that men are all born free.
And those who managed to survive that long, black Winter's night—
Still childish sentimentalists—went calmly forth to fight.

They were sentimental soldiers: in their sentimental eyes
Death seemed a very little stake, with liberty the prize.
They did not know, as Teddy does, that they should humbly own
The power and supremacy of England's mighty throne.
And so they blindly fought until the lamp of hope was lit.
Too bad that Teddy wasn't there, to teach them how to quit!
